HARVARD PUTS SUB TEAM IN AGAINST VANDERBILT SQUAD

THE STADIUM, Nov. 9.—Harvard and Vanderbilt, the champion college football team of the South, met here this afternoon before a small crowd.

Harvard was represented by a substitute team, only a few of the veterans being in the lineup. The regulars were on the sidelines, however, ready to step in at any moment if the Commodores caused any trouble.

FIRST PERIOD.

Harvard elected to kick off, Vanderbilt receiving the punt. The kick went full and fair, Hordage running it back to the 20-yard line. Three rushes made first down for Vanderbilt, but on an attempted end run Collins was thrown for a loss and forced to kick, punting outside.

This gave the ball to Harvard on its own 45-yard line. Vanderbilt was offside, giving Harvard five yards. Lingard took three yards and Harvard elected to punt. This was received on the 27-yard line. Hordage tried two end runs, the first of which made no gain, and the second of which made 8 yards. A delayed pass gave first down. Curlin's rush through right tackle led off a five-yard rush, but Collins' fumble lost that and two more on the next play. With seven to go on the fourth down Vanderbilt punted outside, giving Harvard the ball on its 30-yard line.

A double pass to Hardwick gained nine yards and Logan made the necessary distance to start first down.

Vanderbilt's offside brought Harvard to midfield, while Harvard's holding lost fifteen more and forced them to punt to Vanderbilt's 40-yard line where Collins was downed. Hordage tore off three yards, but the Nashville boys were forced to punt to Harvard's 18-yard line.

Two short gains by Lingard and Logan were followed by a punt to midfield, whereupon Curlin made seven yards through centre. Two rushes left a half yard to gain, and this Sykes did on a smash through centre.

A delayed pass worked twice in succession was followed by an attempted forward pass which went wild. The fourth down called for a punt. A drop kick fell short and was run back fifteen yards by Bettle, who made five more on a centre rush.

A long end run by Hardwick made first down, but on an attempted repetition lost three yards and Harvard decided to kick. Curlin fumbled but recovered. An end run, which might have gained for Vanderbilt, ended in a 15-yard penalty for holding. Hordage fell back to kick, but the kick was blocked, was recovered by Vanderbilt and fumbled again and once more recovered. End first period. Score—Harvard 0, Vanderbilt 0.

SECOND PERIOD.

Two rushes by Vanderbilt gained 9 yards through centre. Graustein for Hardwick, Whitington for McGuire, Freedley for Logan, Felton for Dana for Harvard. For offside Harvard was penalised 15 yards, kicking on the 20-yard line to Vanderbilt's 30-yard mark, where a fumble of the ball resulted in Curlin's being downed without a murmur.

End runs were twice blocked when Lingard broke through and blocked the pass. An attempted punt went only to midfield, gaining a penalty of 15 yards. For interfering with a fair catch the Vanderbilt team lost 10 yards more.

Graustein's swift skin tackle run netted six yards. Swafford was injured in this second rush and was forced to leave the game, Covington taking his place. Nothing could stop the Harvard rush, and on the fourth down with a foot to go Graustein went through for six yards. On another drive he went through centre for four yards and on a third straight rush Hollister shot around end for first down on Vanderbilt's four-yard line.

Hordage on this last rush twisted his leg so badly as to be forced from the game, Robbins taking his place. For rough playing Vanderbilt was penalized half the distance to its goal to the 2-yard line. The Vanderbilt gang stiffened up and held the Harvard rush. Shipp was injured in the melee, and as the Vanderbilt substitutes were getting scarce, he was forced to stay in the game.

Bettle on the next play went over for a touchdown, and Frothingham missed a hard goal. Score—Harvard 6, Vanderbilt 0.

Curlin kicked off for Vanderbilt, the kick being recovered by Bettle on the 25-yard line and run in 15 yards. Graustein fell for an end run and made 2 yards through centre. A second play lost 3, and Felton kicked to the Vanderbilt 30-yard line. Dana for Felton for Harvard. A Vanderbilt end run making 31 yards was only stopped by Freedley's brilliant tackle, for Robbins, who was running, had a clear field except for the light quarterback. With difficulty Freedley resumed play, and on an attempted end run was dropped in his tracks.

A blocked forward pass gave Vanderbilt third down with ten yards to gain. Lawson for Storer for Harvard. In spite of this handicap, Robbins made six yards and Curlin kicked, which went for a touchback and started play on Harvard's 25-yard line. Harvard punted to Vanderbilt's 20-yard line, and on a fumbled pass Harvard made first down on Vanderbilt's 12-yard line. A penalty lost Harvard five yards. Graustein took care of this on the second down. Hollister's attempted goal from the field was blocked, and Sykes recovered the ball on Vanderbilt's 35-yard line. Robbins' run through centre lost two yards, but Sykes made up six on the next play. Robbins made a forward pass which touched the ground, and a fumbled kick was recovered.

A seven-yard gain by Graustein, followed by a four-yard gain, gave first down, whereupon Dana took the ball around right for five more. Then Willetts punted and Vanderbilt signalled a fair catch on its 25-yard line.

End runs across the field failed to gain, and Shipp was once more wrecked on the play. A houndog created a diversion by being kicked off the field by the proverbial boys.

Shipp was once more raised and Robbins run on a delayed pass was followed by a punt from Vanderbilt's 30-yard line to midfield, where the half ended. Score—Harvard 6, Vanderbilt 0.

"Just Call Me 'Mr.'; 'President-Elect' Too Long," Says Wilson

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9.—Woodrow Wilson looked over his mail today and found that there were seven different ways that people were addressing him. First there was "President-elect Wilson," then "Governor Wilson," also "Dr. Wilson," and "Professor Wilson," for his onetime university connection, then there was "His Excellency, Governor Wilson," and "His Excellency, Governor Wilson." Last, but best liked of all by him, was plain "Mr. Woodrow Wilson."

"I would rather be called 'Mr. Wilson' than anything else," he said today. "'President-elect' is too awkward a mouthful. I wish my friends would use 'Mister' in addressing me."

SUNDAY IN JAIL FOR JOHNSON; WRIT REFUSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Jack Johnson attempted to secure his release today through a writ of habeas corpus, but Judge Carpenter denied the writ. Federal judges having jurisdiction in Johnson's case left the federal building at noon and Johnson will have to remain in jail over Sunday at least.

Johnson in his forward lurch, carried Deputy Marshall Edwin Northrop, to whom he was handcuffed, along with him. Weigel caught the blow on the hand and his camera was hurled from his grasp and smashed to the pavement. The prize fighter was about to follow up his blow when secret service men and deputy mar-

ANDOVER, Nov. 9.—Fighting their thirty-third annual struggle on the gridiron, Andover and Exeter clashed this afternoon in the chief classic contest in the football world today.

FIRST PERIOD.

Wiley, of Andover, kicked off to Exeter's 35-yard line. Quigley was nailed in his tracks. Quigley fumbled, Andover recovering the ball. Two rushes through the line by Andover failed to materialise. Andover tried a place kick from the 30-yard line and failed. Quigley recovered the ball and again fumbled and Andover recovered.

After two unsuccessful rushes Andover tried a second place kick, which also failed. Exeter then secured the ball for the first time on its own 20-yard line. Andover's line held, and Quigley made a beautiful punt to Andover's 45-yard line. Gould nailed Nielson, who caught the ball, in his tracks. Wiley punted to Exeter's 20-yard line.

Exeter tried an end run, but was penalised for holding. Quigley kicked from his 10yard line to the 50-yard line. Mooney nailed the ball and ran it back 10 yards.

Andover punted to Kelly on Exeter's 20-yard line, who was nailed in his tracks. Kelly made eight yards through left tackle. Exeter was penalised 15 yards for holding to its 20-yard line.

Quigley made a short kick to Exeter's 25-yard line. In two rushes Andover failed to gain. Neilson plunged through Exeter's right guard for three yards. Andover was penalised ten yards for holding.

McKean was off-side for Exeter and was penalised five yards. Andover worked a pretty forward pass, Mars recovering, making first down for Andover on Exeter's 15-yard line.

Wiley tried a kick which Luman blocked. Bingham recovered the ball for Exeter on Andover's 55-yard line. Kelly gained two yards. Quigley tore around Andover's end for 12 yards. Quigley gained one yard.

Bingham made two more through left guard. A forward pass by Exeter failed. Quigley tried a forward pass which failed. Neilson ran the ball back to Andover's 15-yard line. Wiley kicked to Quigley, who ran it back 10 yards. Quigley was injured, but resumed play.

Somebody Picked Nolan's $50 Bill Out of Air at City Hall

Did you ever pick $50 out of the air? Somebody did at City Hall today and William C. Nolan, an East Boston junk dealer, is mourning the loss.

Nolan was an unsuccessful bidder for a quantity of the city's old junk. When his bid was rejected a $300 deposit which he had advanced was returned. Nolan was counting the money in the corridor on the third floor of City Hall and deposited the roll for a moment on the rail surrounding the stairway. Fifty dollars got separated and went floating down to the basement. Nolan shouted, and started after the money, but before he could reach the basement he saw a hand reach out, seize the floating bill, and disappear.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 9.—Yale today opened its scheduled games with rivals among the big Eastern universities. Brown, Princeton and Harvard, in order, close the Eli season, and the Brunonians, who were given today's date, were first on the list.

Handicapped by lack of practice for ten days, Yale's showing was expected to prove less satisfactory than was hoped three weeks ago, and the coaches believe that their team would be fortunate to escape with a margin of a single touchdown.

FIRST PERIOD.

Henry kicked off for Brown. Fynn ran the ball back to Yale's 55-yard line. Flynn immediately punted and Crawford caught the ball on Brown's 40-yard line and two dashes by the Brown halfbacks, Bean and Tenney, netted first downs.

Brown fumbled on next play on a poor pass. Flynn and Spalding hit the Brown line for six yards and Flynn was thrown back on the fourth down, the visitors taking the ball on downs at their own 25 yard line.

The Brunian were unable to gain, and after three ineffectual attacks on the Yale line Henry punted to midfield. Philbin ran the ball back 15 yards, but Flynn in an attempted end run fumbled, Kratz falling on the ball at the Brown 50-yard line.

Henry on third down, following three unsuccessful attempts at the Yale line kicked to Philbin at the Yale 15-yard line. Philbin was downed without gaining and Flynn immediately punted.

Play was stopped for two minutes because of a slight injury to Galleur's shoulder. Yale failed to gain and Flynn punted behind the goal.

From the Brown 20-yard line the ball was put in play and Tenney and Henry gained two yards each in attacks at right tackle. Henry punted on third down, Philbin muffing but recovering at the Yale 37-yard line.

Spalding twisted through left guard for eight yards. Flynn punted to Crowther, who was shoved back five yards after catching cleanly. Brown put the ball in play at its own 10-yard line. Tenney hit the Yale centre without gain, just as the period closed.

Henry punted from the Brown 10-yard line, Philbin fumbling the ball. Brown's ball in midfield. Here Brown tried a first forward pass which went in complete.

A dispute arose as to whether Brown should be allowed another down or not. The ball was finally given to Yale at its 35-yard line, and Flynn immediately kicked to Crowther, who caught cleanly at the Brown 30-yard line. Henry kicked high to midfield as the period closed without score.

LEAHY RESIGNS AS SECRETARY TO THE MAYOR

William A. Leahy, private secretary to Mayor Fitzgerald, has resigned that office, it was announced at the office of the Mayor this afternoon. The resignation took effect today. At 1 o'clock Mr. Leahy was tendered a farewell dinner by the Mayor and the rest of his office staff.

Mr. Leahy gave out the following statement regarding his resignation:

For some time I have been considering a change of occupation. Two months ago I offered my resignation to the Mayor, but postponed my departure at his request.

My personal relations with the Mayor and his office force have been extremely pleasant, and I feel that the experience has been valuable and instructive.

Mayor Fitzgerald has still a year and three months of his term to serve. With his great executive ability and wide range of practical knowledge he will, I am sure, be able to fulfil his special mission of stimulating interest in important projects, besides adding to the long list of useful works conceived and completed during his present administration.

I wish him the utmost success in all his efforts for the public good.

It was understood Mr. Leahy intends to devote himself to literary pursuits. Several names have been mentioned as Mr. Leahy's successor. The Mayor, however, has not decided who is to succeed Mr. Leahy, it was stated.

MASSACRES BEGIN IN HOLY WAR AT CONSTANTINOPLE

BULLETIN.

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Nov. 9. — Butchery of Christians in the Galata section of Constantinople by Kurds has begun, according to a report from the Turkish capital, received here by way of Kustendje. Mohammedan horse sent into the Galata, or old quarter of the city, to preserve order are said to have turned upon the people, shooting down non-Mussulmans in the streets. Several buildings were fired by pillaging bands of deserters. The banks and foreign embassies are under guard of picked troops.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—So confident are the Balkan kings of capturing Constantinople that they have already made plans for a grand entry into the Turkish capital, according to advices received here today by representatives of the Balkan league.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 9.—Fierce fighting continues along the Tchatalja fortresses defending Constantinople. A Bulgarian column has reached the lower part of Lake Derkos, at the extreme eastern end of the Turkish defences, and at Harvard's ball on her 20-yard line. Harvard penalized to 10-yard line. Harvard's punt was run back to the 35-yard line. Curlin tried a drop kick. Graustein ran it back ten yards.

The period ended with the score: Harvard 6, Vanderbilt 3.

YALE—BROWN GAME.—SECOND PERIOD.

Ashbaugh failed at goal from placement. Henry got the ball and ran to the Yale 30-yard line. A forward pass was intercepted by Yale. Flynn made a 25-yard end run. Flynn punted. Brown made a successful forward pass and carried the ball to Yale's 25-yard line. Brown tried for a placement goal, but Crowther fumbled the pass and it was Yale's ball on her own 25-yard line. Flynn punted. Brown worked two forward passes, gaining 30 yards. Crowther tried a drop kick, but failed. Flynn punted to midfield and Henry returned to Yale's 10-yard line, when time expired.

Wiley kicked a long spiral which rolled over Exeter's goal line. Exeter elected to rush from their 20-yard line. Quigley punted. Nielson carried back 15 yards. Andover failed to gain twice. Andover tried a forward pass, which was captured by Backle, who carried it over for a touchdown. Wiley kicked the goal. The first half ended with the ball on Exeter's 55-yd line.

Score end of 1st half: Andover 7, Exeter 0.

SEES MASSACRE IF CITY FALLS

Pestilence has broken out in the Turkish camp at the front. But the ill, half starved and half naked troops are allowed no rest, for the Bulgarians keep hammering away at the Tchatalja line, stopping only a few hours at night to allow the weary artillerymen to snatch a few hours' sleep. The Bulgars' supply of ammunition seems inexhaustible.

Affairs are rapidly moving to a climax in Constantinople. The vanguard of the retreating Turkish army has reached the capital, leaving behind it a swath of death and destruction. In the suburbs Christians are being killed.

News of the fall of Salonica reached the populace today for the first time, and this, added to the repeated exhortations of the Mohammedan priests for a holy war, has worked the fanatic Mussulmans into a frenzy. A mob attacked and burned several buildings outside the main city today. Followers of Islam marched through the streets crying for the blood of Christians.

Panic reigns even in official circles. With all the principal cities of European Turkey save Monastir, Janita, Scutari and Constantinople in the hands of the allies and with the fate of Adrianople in doubt, the government faces annihilation north of the Bosphorus.

A segregated district has been set aside for the cholera patients among the wounded Turkish soldiers. The medical authorities on board the warships in the harbor are co-operating with the Turkish authorities in an attempt to check the spread of the pestilence. The cholera quarter has been removed as far as possible from the foreign section.

Executions of Turkish soldiers and officers go forward daily. It is estimated that at least 300 men have been shot to death in the past seven days.

Adrianople Forts Taken.

Further success today crowned the efforts of the Bulgarian armies attacking Adrianople. After a desperate artillery fire, lasting without pause for twenty-four hours, the Bulgarians occupied the two forts of Kartaltep and Papaztepe at Adrianople, taking many of the Turkish defenders prisoners at the point of the bayonet.

The Mohammedan populace is raging with religious anger at the invaders. Aroused by the call for a Jehad—a Holy War—which has been issued, they are on the point of a desperate outbreak.

Every man over nineteen will be at hand to defend the city. Even with Tchatalja fallen, an effective resistance can be made. Every able-bodied man will fight.

The Bulgars will probably make an attack today and crush all the Turkish troops back into the city proper. It is planned to enter the city tomorrow, march to the Mosque of St. Sophia, and fling the Cross to the wind, where the Crescent has waved.

There is the great and imminent danger of an anti-Eupropean or an anti-Christian outbreak. In Salonica, just before the entrance of the victorious Greek troops, horrible scenes of massacre and outbreak were wassted. The Turkish Vizier, Kiamil Pasha, has declared that no power on earth can hold the Mohammedans of Constantinople, if Ferdinand of Bulgaria enters the city.

Pestilence in City.

But the city already is in the grip of pestilence. The thousands of wounded soldiers, and the crowded and unsanitary conditions, have resulted in many cases of typhoid, and cholera symptoms have been seen.

There are 50.000 men defending the city, but not a single doctor of European education is recognized.

Relating to the massacres in Salonica, an uncensored dispatch received by the Daily Chronicle from Constantinople says:

> Friday: Salonica has been occupied by the Greek troops. Their approach was attended by awful scenes. Before the Greeks entered the town the elements of disorder broke loose and a terrible massacre of the non-Moslem population took place. Shooting and looting were general. When the Greeks took possession they imprisoned all the Pasha's officials and Turkish officers. The Turks in captivity in Salonika number 27,500.

DEAFNESS, HEAD NOISES

New Book on New Method, How to Recover Hearing Without Drugs or Electric Devices.

MESSAGE OF HOPE AND JOY TO ALL AFFLICTED PERSONS

There is hope of a well-based kind which should bring joy and ultimate contentment to multitudes of persons who have been troubled for years with deafness or head noises.

Dr. Coutant, an able specialist, has evolved a newly perfected method for treating cases where the hearing is not perfect or where the sufferer is harassed by ringing, roaring, buzzing or other disagreeable noises in the head. It appears that about 95 out of every hundred cases are from causes amenable to proper treatment.

Dr. Coutant does not advocate the use of drugs or electricity. He relies chiefly upon co-operating with nature in bringing about a speedy and effectual cure of morbid aural conditions. Remarkable cures are reported. Many of them being in the cases of deafness that have existed for 20 to 40 years. With the description given in his newly published book, the learned doctor provides a long series of letters written by persons who had been given up as hopeless and who were speedily cured at home without loss of time and without inconvenience by Dr. Coutant's natural Home Method.

Any one who is interested can write to a dozen or a hundred of the persons, who, not long ago, were victims of deafness or head noises (or both), and who are now delighted to proclaim themselves as marvellously benefited or completely cured.

Dr. Coutant is not one of the irresponsible quacks of which there is such a large number, but is a reputable, responsible, licentiate practising physician, with a third of a century's active experience.

The doctor believes there are many readers of the Boston American who are troubled with deafness, etc., who might be permanently freed from their inability to hear and from tinnitus (noises) if they would do as others have successfully done, merely following the advice given.

The book, which any Boston American reader can obtain from the author, Dr. George E. Coutant, 37 N, Station E, New York, N. Y., has been declared by many to be worth its weight in gold. One needs only to write for it and the treatise will promptly come in a plain wrapper.

Sheik-Ul-Islam's Call to Moslems for a Holy War

"With a view to exciting and encouraging the soldiers of the enemies who surround us, their priests, cross in hand, are working in the ranks of the army. It is not fitting that our Ulemas, the religious hierarchy of the Ottoman Empire, should neglect the accomplishment of a similar duty.

"In order that the victory and glory promised by the Almighty may be granted without delay to the Ottoman army, it is necessary that the venerable Ulemas organise a Jihad. Such a Holy War has, moreover, become an obligation if the condition of the Ottoman soldiers, who all are heroes, is to be strengthened.

"Ulemas who feel that they possess the aptitude and strength to participate in this important task are invited to present themselves immediately at the Sheik-ul-Islamat, which will send those selected to the army."—Call to Holy War issued by the Sheik-ul-Islam in Constantinople yesterday, summoning the Faithful to incite the Turkish army.

GRAND VIZIER DECLARES NEITHER HE NOR SULTAN WILL FLEE FROM CAPITAL

PARIS, Nov. 9.—"I do not think that either I or the Sultan will ever abandon Constantinople. My sovereign will await death in his palace and I in my office."

This statement was made today in Constantinople by Grand Vizier Kiamil Pasha, according to a telegram to the Matin.

This assertion proves the determination of Turkey to fight to the death, and also disproves the report telegraphed from the Ottoman capital several days ago that the Sultan had fled from his palace to the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus.

Kiamil Pasha informed the diplomats at Constantinople that he would maintain order there so long as the capital was not invaded. If it was invaded, he said, he would not be answerable for what the exasperation of the populace might lead to. General Nazim Pasha, Minister of War, who is still with his troops, has sent word to Constantinople that the soldiers of the army of Thrace will never accept mediation or intervention.

WAR BULLETINS

BULGARIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Starazagora, Nov. 9.—Two hundred Christian families have been massacred by Turkish soldiers in the town of Bojudos on the sea of Marmora. A military dispatch from the front today stated that when a Bulgarian column entered the town they found it filled with the dead. Mussulmans had burned, pillaged and slain before fleeing from the Bulgars.

BEDGRADE, Servia, Nov. 9.—"The League of the Balkan Nations is utterly opposed to making Albania an autonomous State, as desired by Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy," said Premier Pashitch of Servia, in the course of an interview here today.

SOFIA, Nov. 9.—The beaten Turkish army arrived at Tchatalja utterly demoralised and ready to fly even further, but the exhausted Bulgarians, happily for the Turks, have not pressed the pursuit from Tchorlu with the vigor which they exhibited in the earlier phases of the fight.

The reason for this is that the Bulgarians themselves were badly in need of rest and recuperation after the terrible sustained fighting of last week.

BELGRADE, Nov. 9.—Notification of Servia's annexation of a strip of Turkish territory extending south through Albania to the Aegean Sea, and another strip southwestward to the Adriatic Sea has been prepared in a note to the Powers.

ATHENS, Nov. 9. — Thanksgiving prayers for the capture of Salonica by the Greeks were held in all the cathedrals throughout this city today, although the massacre of Christians there dimmed the festivities.

Crown Prince Constatine is said to be sending thousands of Turkish prisoners to Larissa, where they will be kept until exchanged or otherwise disposed of.

Although Salonica fell Thursday, official notice of the capture of the important Turkish city was not made here until late yesterday. The Greeks delayed entering the city after its capture.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The U. S. revenue cutter Unalga today was ordered to remain at Suez until the peril to Americans in Constantinople is at an end. This is said to have been personally directed by President Taft. The cutter has been directed to be in readiness to speed to Constantinople to protect Americans should the city be sacked. The Unalga is on a trip from Norfolk to Juneau, Alaska, and is the first revenue cutter to sail around the world.

SOFIA, Nov. 9.—Two more Turkish towns, Kavala, a port on the Aegean Sea, and Gumuldjina have been captured. Dispatches this afternoon from Athens make no mention of the fall of Salonika and Bulgarian officials refused to credit it until officially notified.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In defiance of Austria's warnings and demands, Servia is rushing an army to seize the Turkish Adriatic seaport of Durazzo, it was learned here today.

The Servian plan, military experts said, was plainly to confront Austria with an actual situation, instead of the prospect of one. Obviously, it was pointed out, it will be harder for Austria to undo what has been done than to prevent it from happening.

Austria has virtually threatened, however, to throw a strong military force across the Servian frontier if the Servians disregard Austria's warning to keep away from the Adriatic.

That Servia, doubtless backed by Russia, has taken up the gauntlet, was considered here as promising immediate precipitation of the crisis.

SMYRNA, Nov. 9.—Two Austrain cruisers and one torpedo boat destroyer have arrived here.

INDICT WOMAN FOR KIDNAPING

Mrs. May Tacy, accused of kidnaping three-year-old Louis Finkel while he was playing with some other children at the Charlesbank Park, in the West End, on October 2, was indicted by the Suffolk Grand Jury, who reported to Judge Brown in the Superior Criminal Court.

When Mrs. Tacy was arrested in her home on Dale street, Roxbury, she had the child in bed with her. The only defence that she would offer was that her own child, who was in another city, looked like the little Finkel boy, and for that reason, she said, she took him home.

It was charged by the police that Mrs. Tacy got the child to accompany her with a promise of taking him to a moving picture show.

MILLION FOR TUFTS ACTING PRESIDENT HOOPER'S BIG AIM

Acting President W. L. Hooper of Tufts has raised an endowment fund of $100,000 since June and hopes to raise $60,000 more before the end of the college year, according to his announcement at the annual meeting of the Tufts College Club. Professor Hooper went even further and said he plans to obtain $1,000,000 as an endowment fund before his incumbency is terminated.

Melvin O. Johnson, presided and about seventy members were present. Officers were elected as follows: George M. Bates, '93, president; Charles F. Berry, '04, secretary; E. B. Armstrong, '05, R. B. Coolidge, '02, and T. S. Knight, '03, executive committee.

DEAN WALSH AND 4 INSTRUCTORS AT FORDHAM RESIGN

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Dr. James J. Walsh, the dean, and four other instructors in the medical department at the Fordham University, have resigned.

The appointment of five additional physicians by Dr. Walsh to serve that institution when its new building is completed has been rejected by the president, the Rev. Father Thomas J. McCluskey.

Dr. Walsh is a noted practitioner, lecturer and author. He is a papal knight commander of the Order of St. Gregory, and has written a number of books defending the attitude of the Catholic Church toward true science. For the last six years he has been at the head of the medical department of the university, and was a consulting physician at Gabriel's Sanatorium.

PASTOR AND GIRL HELD IN STRIKE

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Robert A. Bakeman, a former Schenectady clergyman, son of the Rev. F. W. Bakeman of Chelsea, Mass., has been held on a charge of assault, and Miss Helen M. Schloss, formerly visiting nurse, has been held on a charge of inciting riot here during the textile strike. Miss Schloss is in jail here. Bail will be fixed later.

Miss Schloss came here from New York a few months ago. She left her work when the strike started, and marched with the strikers. Four more prisoners taken in connection with the riot will be examined today. William D. Haywood has arrived here and assumed the management of the strike. He said that the labor situation was the same as that at Lawrence, Mass., and he would remain in the city until the strike was settled.

700 AT DANCE OF HORSESHOERS' UNION

More than 700 persons attended the annual ball of Local 5 of the Journeymen Horseshoers' Union at Paine Memorial Hall. Among the guests were Mayor Fitzgerald, President James Moriarty of the Boston Central Labor Union, Martin T. Joyce, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor; Assistant Penal Commissioner Dennis D. Driscoll, John Fenton, John F. English and John R. Lynch, district business managers of the Coal Teamsters' Union; John Gillispie, representing the International Team Drivers' Union of America; President George Stevens of the Master Horseshoers' Association of Boston.

GRACE ESTATE FOR JEWISH HOSPITAL

Isaac Heller of Boston has purchased the Grace estate at No. 101 Crawford street, Roxbury, and will at once commence the work of alterations and additions to fit it up for a Jewish hospital. Besides Isaac Heller, it is understood that other prominent Hebrews are back of the venture.

WARNS CARELESS GIFT SENDERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—In announcing that 8.566 articles lost in the mail, aggregating $13,000, would be sold at the annual auction sale of the Dead Letter Office December 16, Postmaster-General Hitchcock issued a note of warning against carelessness to all Christmas gift senders and prospective parcels post patrons.

"Venus" Hunting Job Here After Strike in Theatre Company

Venus is hunting a job in boston. She'd rather have one in New York, but if any Boston offer appears favorable, she will accept.

Venus is really Miss Rita Gould. She was "Venus" in the "Broadway to Paris" company and was discharged as a result of her part in the strike which delayed two performances of the show. Four show girls were also discharged when the strike was settled.

One of the show girls has filed an attachment against the box office receipts of the theatre; another is contemplating the same action, and four ambitious girls who have signed to take the places of the discharged ones are living unhappy lives, made objects of scorn and ridicule by the others in the company.

Miss Helen White, a show girl, was the active leader in the strike. When, as she alleges, the company's salary envelopes were delivered on Tuesday, and they were found to contain only half-pay, she "started something."

She was discharged and has filed suit through a local attorney. Miss Dorothy Dunn, Hazel Moore and Bertha Bentley are her companions.

GLOUCESTER CHILD DEAD OF HER BURNS

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 9.—Marion Bernard, the four-year-old daughter of John Bernard, is dead at the Gloucester Hospital as the result of burns. She was playing near a dump and her clothing caught fire. She was terribly burned about the limbs and body.

COAL MEN SUE UNION; DAMAGES $750,000

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 9.—Seven suits with damages totaling $750,000 are filed against non-resident officers of the United Mine Workers of America, and local officers of the Miners' Union, by coal companies whose mines were closed by the strike in the Kanawha coal field.

WOMAN DIES PRAYING AS HOME IS BOUGHT

GIRL ROLLS PEANUT 3 BLOCKS WITH NOSE

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—Miss Myrtle Hays, a society girl, loser of a freak election bet, rolled a peanut through Addyston's leading thoroughfare with her nose, while a brass band paraded ahead. Miss Hays bet Clay McFarland that Taft would be re-elected.

JACK JOHNSON IN JAIL CELL

shals rushed in and pushed the photographer away. Five minutes later Johnson was safely locked in a cell.

Johnson will have to answer a charge of assault in Municipal Court on the complaint of Weigle.

In addition District Attorney Wilkerson will ask that Judge Landis investigate the assault.

"I want a dozen candles, so I can have more light, a box of cigars and a case of champagne," Johnson demanded.

"You can't have them," he was told.

Finally Johnson asked for a bottle of milk and this was given him.

The incarceration of Johnson followed a strenuous all-day fight for bail, during which United States Circuit Court Judge Landis refused a cash bond, refused to accept three different bondsmen and refused to hear a personal appeal by Johnson for reduction of the bond. If any plea were necessary the judge said the pugilist could call his lawyer into court.

Unveil Tablet at Place Where Great Boston Fire Began

In the presence of some of the men who fought the great Boston fire of 1872, a tablet marking the spot where the flames started was unveiled at Kingston and Summer streets today.

This is the fortieth anniversary of the fire. The tablet was put up by the Bostonian Society. Courtenay Guild, secretary of the memorial committee of the society, unveiled the memorial as several hundred spectators cheered.

Among the old firemen who saw the dedication were David L. Adamson, who served on Engine No. 11; Samuel Abbott, now superintendent of the Boston Protective Department; Charles Windhorma, an active fireman still, as engineer of Engine No. 44, and Warren M. Blood, who was with Engine No. 4 at the great fire. The officials of the Bostonian society present were Granville Norcross, President; Charles F. Read, secretary; Joseph G. Minot and Nelson Whitney.

The tablet, near the corner of the second floor of the remodelled building at Summer and Kingston streets, reads:

The Great Boston Fire
Began Here, November 9, 1872.
The Bostonian Society Placed
This Tablet, November 9, 1912.

Develop Your Bust In 15 Days

A Full Firm Bust is Worth More to a Woman Than Beauty

Develop Bust New Way

I don't care how thin you are, how old you are, how fallen and flaccid are the lines of your figure or how flat your chest is, I can give you a full, firm, youthful bust quickly, that will be the envy of your fellow-women and will give you the allurements of a perfect womanhood that will be irresistible.

They say there is nothing new under the sun, but I have perfected a treatment that I want to share with my sisters. What it did for me it can and will do for you, and I now offer it to you.

Others offer to build up your figure with drugs, greasy skin foods, creams, dieting, massage and expensive instruments and devices. I have done away with all these injurious methods and have given a legion of women a luxuriant natural development by a treatment never before offered the public. No massaging, nothing to take, nothing to wear.

Why be skinny, scrawny, flat and unattractive? I claim to be the highest priced artist's model in the United States, and what I did for myself I can do for you.

I don't care what your age may be, I ask only that you be at least sixteen and not an invalid, and I will undertake to develop your bust in two weeks. All I ask is five or ten minutes of your time every day.

Write to me Today for my Treatment

It will only cost you a penny for a postcard and I will mail you this wonderful information in a plain cover so that no one will know your secret.

Don't let a false pride and a silly sense of shame keep you from enjoying to the full the charms you should have to be a perfect specimen of womanhood. Let me help you. Your communication shall be held in absolute confidence and secrecy. Write me today.

A Little Knowledge Is a Dangerous Thing

When you are so sick that the world looks blue, your body feels heavy, the head aches, the stomach is out of order, it is dangerous to say: "Oh, well, I'll be better by tomorrow"—or, to take something which will do more harm than good.

Such a condition shows a Liver Disorder which in turn affects the Stomach, Bowels, and Nervous System. Neglected, it may lead to more serious disease. Rightly treated at once, it becomes only a passing incident. But—remember—it must be rightly treated. Not just a drug which moves your bowels. Think! Your Liver is sick and that is the most important of your organs; then the Stomach, Bowels, and Nervous System. You need a combination of substances which will do its work in the proper way. That's the way every doctor works. The New Discovery—Hunyadi Janos Pills—is a scientific remedy, and its combination is declared the most valuable by eminent physicians and scientists. They are not an experiment. You need not take from one to ten pills to see if they work. One or two pills at night are enough. They make you feel fine. Buy a box from your druggist and try them tonight. You'll see the reason why—in the morning.

Court Disallows Brown Will Son Gets Share of $800,000 Widow Consents to Petition

MRS. CHARLOTTE BROWN

Mrs. Brown married the rich scale manufacturer when he was 84. At his death he willed her nearly all his estate of $800,000.

MRS SAMUEL N BROWN

Judge Robert Grant of the Suffolk Probate Court has disallowed the will of the late Samuel Newman Brown of Commonwealth avenue, who left his $800,000 estate to his second wife and cut off his son, Harold H. Brown, with $1,000.

The will is set aside on the grounds of mental incapacity of the aged testator and of undue influence.

The son has filed a petition to be appointed administrator.

What is also regarded as significant is the fact that Mrs. Charlotte Thompson Ames Bradford Brown, the widow, has consented to the granting of the son's petition.

The inventory of the estate discloses that instead of being that of a multimillionaire, it has a total valuation of $800,000. These developments were learned today in the remarkable case which had promised to develop long litigation.

Son Cut Off with $1,000.

Samuel Newman Brown, vice-president of the Fairbanks Scales Company and proprietor of the big Ocean House at Swampscott, married the widow of Joel Bradford of Brockton, two years ago. He was a widower of eight-four. She was half his age and an unusually attractive woman. They met while she was a guest at his Swampscott hotel.

Mr. Brown died on July 4. His son, a yachtsman, aviator and clubman, received but $1,000, by the terms of the will. The document stated that the son had already received a considerable sum, also that he would get more from the testator's life insurance.

The widow, who was named as executrix, received the rest of the estate, with the stipulation that one-tenth of the income was to be devoted to charities listed by the testator.

Contest Was Expected.

A week later Sherman L. Whipple, as counsel for the son, petitioned for special administrators to take possession of the estate, pending expected litigation. This gave assurance that the will would be contested.

The widow said at that time that she had only kindest regard for her step-son, that her only wishes were to carry out her late husband's purpose and that, if her husband had left all the money to his son, she would have been content.

But the son went ahead with preparations for contest, on the ground that his father was mentally incompetent and that he was unduly influenced.

Judge George appoined two special administrators. July 25 was the date set for offering the will for probate. On that day the son's counsel gave formal notice of a contest and the hearing was put over.

Last September the hearing was expected any day, but it was postponed from time to time until rumors of a settlement were heard.

OFFERS ALIBI FOR CARUSO

SALEM COURTHOUSE, Nov. 9.—Counsel for Joseph Caruso, who with Ettor and Giovannitti is on trial for complicity in the murder of Annie Lo Pezzi during the Lawrence strike, played one of its trump cards today when Antonio De Barcolo, who owns the house in which Caruso lives at No. 64 Union street, Lawrence, was called to the witness stand to prove an alibi for the defendant.

The witness testified that he visited Caruso's home at the time of the alleged murder on January 29, and found Caruso, with his wife and godfather, in the dining room.

He was questioned closely by Judge Quinn in order to satisfy the court that he could not speak English. Interpreter Sacco was then called.

Caruso's landlord was questioned by Attorney Sisk.

"Late in the afternoon of January 29 did you go to Caruso's tenement?"

"Yes, I called there about fifteen minutes of six. I went there and pushed the door open. I saw Caruso, his wife and his godfather at the table in the dining room. I talked with them.'

"Some time when you were there did you hear a shot in the distance?"

Heard Three Shots.

"Certainly, I heard three shots."

"When you went away whom did you leave in the dining room?"

"Caruso, his wife and his godfather."

The witness remembered the time when witness was arrested. He said he did not talk with anybody about his visit until he had talked with a lawyer five or six months ago. He is in no way related to Caruso, nor to Caruso's wife, but they are all from Sicily. He knew Caruso before the strike, but he never called upon him.

Court was delayed this morning for half an hour on account of the non-appearance of the witnesses for the defence who live in Lawrence. The electric car met with several accidents and finally a transfer to another car was necessary. One of the passengers gave the following description:

I. W. W. Witnesses Recalled.

"Fire in car. Airbrake out of order. Not enough power to pull up hill."

Court was called at 9:45.

Edward Riley, Archie Adamson, Gilbert Smith and William Born, all members of the I. W. W., witnesses for the defence several days ago, were recalled this morning to answer questions concerning the rumors about the planting of dynamite in Lawrence by the mill authorities for the purpose of arousing prejudice against the strikers. They all answered that there were such rumors. Each witness was on the stand but a moment.

Godfather a Witness.

Further attempt to prove an alibit for Caruso was made by Attorney Sisk, by calling Salvatore Buon Accorso, the godfather of Caruso's child, born while Caruso was in jail. He said he had called upon Caruso on the evening of January 29, at about 5:25.

"They had started the evening meal and invited me to join them," he said.

"While you were there, did anyone come into the tenement?" asked Attorney Sisk.

"Yes, the boss of the tenement. I did not hear any shots, but the boss told us he had heard shooting."

The witness said he was in no way related to Caruso, nor to Caruso's wife, but that he had come to the house to talk about being godfather to the child.

Mrs. Caruso's Story.

Mrs. Rosa Caruso, wife of Joseph Caruso, told of the happenings on January 29.

"I was at home that afternoon," she testified. She said Caruso came home between 5 and 6 o'clock and brought with him peas, olives and maccaroni. About 5:15 Accorso came in and stayed for supper. She heard shots outside, but did not go out. The landlord spoke about the shots. Accorso left about 6 o'clock. After supper she and Caruso went to the postoffice. Her husband went in while she remained outside. She saw an officer go into the postoffice with a paper in his hand. In about five minutes Caruso came out and they went to an Italian show, where they stayed until bedtime.

Asked whether she knew anyone named eCourte, she said she had never known or seen him until she saw him testifying in the court several days ago. Her husband didn't bring anyone to the house except the man who was to be godfather.

Under cross-examination, Mrs. Caruso became somewhat confused about the exact time she heard the shots. She said she was not a member of the I. W. W., and had never heard Ettor or Giovannitti speak, and knew nothing about a parade on January 29. She did not hear of the death of Annie Lo Pezzi until the next day.

Miss Gertrude Marvin, a reporter, who testified yesterday, was recalled, but was excused.

Richard J. Shea, auditor for the city of Lawrence, was called and also excused.

Court adjourned at 1 o'clock until Monday.

William M. Wood to Testify.

William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, Colonel Leroy E. Sweetzer and Mayor Scanlon of Lawrence have been subpoenaed and will appear as witnesses for the defence at the trial of Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso, on Monday, according to a rumor in the courtroom shortly before adjournment.

This Wife and Mother Wishes to tell you FREE HOW SHE STOPPED Her Husband's Drinking

By All Means Write to Her and Learn How She Did It.

For over 20 years James Anderson, of 166 Elm Ave., Hillburn, N. Y., was a very hard drinker. His case seemed a hopeless one, but 10 years ago his wife in their own little home, gave him a simple remedy, which, much to her delight, stopped his drinking entirely.

To make sure that the remedy was responsible for this happy result she also tried it on her brother and several of her neighbors.

It was successful in every case. None of them has touched a drop of intoxicating liquor since.

She now wishes every one who has drunkenness in their homes to try this simple remedy, for she feels sure that it will do as much for others as it has for her. It can be given secretly if desired, and without cost she will gladly and willingly tell you what it is. All you have to do is write her a letter asking her how she cured her husband of drinking, and she will reply by return mail in a sealed envelope. As she has nothing to sell do not send her money. Simply send a letter with all confidence to Mrs. Margaret Anderson at the address given above, taking care to write your name and full address plainly.

(We earnestly advise every one of our readers who wishes to cure a dear one of drunkenness to write to this lady to-day. Her offer is a sincere one.)

Uimple Suimples

By MORTON BIRGE

(Fashion Note—The fine, plain nets continue to be used for guimpes.)

A fine, plain net, used for a guimpe,
Is now decreed as fashion's stuimpe.
For home or town or ball or cuimpe
The well-dressed woman wears a guimpe.
In rain or sun or heat or duimpe,
At ball or golf or on a truimpe,
The morning sun and ev'ning tuimpe
Disclose her with a plain net guimpe.

Chorus: No wonder people want to tuimper
With spelling only made to huimper.
Of other cases there are uimple,
But this will do now for a suimple.

P. S.—See Dictionary's pronounciation of "guimpe." That will help some.

Asks American to Find Sister Lost to Her Since Childhood

Perhaps you can help Mrs. LeRouque, who lives in Northbridge, find the sister who has been lost to her since she was four years of age.

The sister's name is Marie Sumpter. Mrs. LaRoque has written to the AMERICAN asking assistance in her efforts to locate her sister. Here is her letter:

Editor AMERICAN:

I have a sister who has been lost to us since she was four years of age. I wish you would try and find her if you will. I hope you will do all you can.

My sister's name is Marie Sumpter. I hope to have a reply soon. Please answer. MRS. LAROQUE,
P. O. Box 415, Northbridge, Mass.

Last year Mrs. LaRoque wrote to the Sisters at the Convent of the Good Shepherd, in Roxbury. A girl named Marie Sumpter had been at the convent, but she had left. The Sisters said Miss Dewson of No. 198 Dartmouth street, Boston, might know something of the missing girl, as it was Miss Dewson who had sent the girl to the convent to be cared for.

LILY LANGTRY WILL CONTINUE HER TOUR

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Lily Langtry, whose suffragette sketch, "Helping the Cause," was barred this week from a Pittsburgh theatre, will not give up her American vaudeville tour on that account. Under her contract she gets $2,500 for the week, although she did not play.

SPINSTER AUNT WELL TRAINED —MISS CURTIS

Miss Frances G. Curtis of Beacon Hill and Manchester-by-the-Sea thinks that a "spinster aunt who has taken care of 4,700 children for thirteen years" and who has helped to raise eight brothers and sisters is just as competent for school board membership as any "mother of a couple of children."

Miss Curtis included these remarks in a brief answer made today at her Manchester home to the action of the School Voters' League in declining because she is not a mother, to indorse her candidacy to the Boston School Board. She said:

"The claims of the School Voters' League, that a mother of a couple of children can do better work on the school board than a spinster aunt who has taken care of 4,700 children for thirteen years, is not proved on its face. The statement is absurd. Perhaps she may be able to. Then you know I have helped to bring up my eight brothers and sisters, so I think I am just about as well qualified as any mother. I really do not care to say very much further today, as I do not regard the tabling of the matter as final."

In her sentence, "Perhaps she may be able to," may refer to Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, the S. V. L. candidate last year and presumptive candidate now, in opposition to the choice of the Public School Association of Miss Curtis.

Miss Curtis' reference to taking care of "4,700 children for thirteen years," is taken to relate to her long activities on the State Board of Charities.

You say "P.A."—and make a real Cigarette Smoke!

Go right up to the counter, like you had been wise a long spell, and say: "Give me some Prince Albert and a flock of cigarette papers."

Stop in your tracks, roll up a cigarette and get a mouthful of cool, delicious P. A. smoke! Man alive! You've hit the flavor, fragrance—class! You've hit real and true smoke joy at last!

PRINCE ALBERT
the national joy smoke

'marks the high spot in cigarettes as well as being king pin of jimmy pipe tobaccos. It's a double header for one admission! Play it either way—just as the idea hits you when you get P. A. hungry.

Here's hard facts: Prince Albert has doubled the number of American pipe smokers, because the bite is cut out by a patented process. And it's doing the same thing with cigarette smokers, because it's freed 'em from the fast running dust-brands and fire-brands. Catch the idea?

Buy P. A. everywhere tobacco is sold and lots of places where no other brand is sold. It's always at hand, no matter where you are. In 5c toppy red bags; 10c tidy red tins and pound and half-pound humidors.

TODAY IS 'FIRE PREVENTION DAY'

"Fire Prevention Day," fortieth anniversary of the conflagration that cost Boston $60,000,000, was observed in Boston today.

At 6 o'clock on the evening of November 9, 1872, from Box 52, corner of Summer and Kingston streets, was sounded the alarm which aroused the entire Boston fire department to cope with a conflagration that cost the lives of thirteen firemen, injured many more and brought apparatus from many other New England towns and cities.

Tonight, as near to the exact hour of 6 as possible, 100 of the veterans who fought the flames on that harrowing occasion will line themselves up before banquet tables at the American House, marshalled by Samuel Abbott, head of the protective department, who was a regular fireman of the old Eagle company in '72.

The Boston Veteran Firemen's Association will celebrate the anniversary at No. 1019 Washington street, and the Bostonian Society will unveil a tablet on the spot where the fire started.

Explanations of the working of the fire alarm boxes and of fire precautions have been made to the pupils in the Boston public, private and parochial schools.

Fire Commissioner Cole prepared a printed set of fire prevention rules, which was read to the children. School Superintendent Dyer has enthusiastically co-operated. Today Commissioner Cole will distribute similar fire prevention rule cards among factories and business establishments. The cards are red and bear the rules on one side and a reproduction of a fire alarm box on the other. The number and location of the nearest box are to be filled in on each card.

11 WOMEN, ONE LONE MAN ON WINIFREDIAN

Eleven women and one lone man comprised the passenger list of the Leyland liner Winifredian as she sailed down the bay on the tide today bound for Liverpool. Half an hour ahead of her was the Cunarder Saxonia, but on the Saxonia the sexes were more equal. Then a few minutes in the wake of the Winifredian came the White Star liner Canopic for the Mediterranean. All the liners had heavy cargoes and left big piles of merchandise on the piers that they were unable to stow away.

I WAS A
Heavy Drinker
Consumed Quart of Whisky Every 24 Hours.

VICTORY IN 3 DAYS

If you know anyone who drinks alcohol in any form, regularly or periodically, let me send my FREE book, "Confessions of an Alcohol Slave."

I drank beer at first, then gradually developed into a drinker of strong liquors. When drinking heavily I wouldn't hesitate to pawn my coat or break a saloon window to get spirits. For long periods I would drink over a quart of whisky, rum or gin daily. And often some mixed drinks and beer additionally!

I damaged business, health and social opportunities, made family miserable, lost real friends and became an unworthy, unwelcome burden upon all except the saloonkeepers, who cheerfully took my money for the poison they gave me.

For 16 years I kept it up, and I was regarded as a hopeless case. Various "cures" did me no good. But now I have a joyous message for drinkers and

Mothers, Wives, Sisters

While drifting from bad to worse, as all slaves of King Alcohol do, I unexpectedly found a true remedy. It saved my life. My health was quickly restored. I became and am a respectable man, enjoying every benefit of freedom from the accursed alcohol. I speedily and naturally lost all desire for drink. I took less and less. I began to prefer tea, coffee, buttermilk and other non-alcoholic liquids; the craving for liquor ceased. I could sleep perfectly, my stomach became well and I recovered from other ailments which I now know were due to my indulgence in strong drink.

WONDERFUL

It was done in 3 days! If I had relied upon will power or faith I would still be a drunkard, because an alcohol slave has no will power while drinking. I rejoiced so greatly at having found true relief that I decided to devote my life to removing the curse from others. My success has been marvelous, for I have a reliable, guaranteed Set of Remedies adapted for sending to any home, anywhere. My Remedies have saved legions of drinkers; the list includes very many persons notable in all walks of life, including those of brains and those of physical energy. I will send you testimonials by the hundreds, every one of which you can verify. Many were saved from the drink habit because they desired to get rid of it forever and others who did not have any will-power left, were rescued without their knowledge by loving wives, mothers, or friends. The after effect of taking my Remedies gives energy throughout the entire body; the mind, memory and will-power are wonderfully strengthened.

I tell about the secret in my book, which I send FREE to every person (or relative or friend) who takes alcohol in any form to excess. My one purpose in life is to save the drunkard. I rejoice in every victory; each victim has my sympathy. What I promise is absolutely guaranteed. My Remedies are for either steady or periodical drinkers. Think of it—a complete and delightful overcoming of drink habit between Friday night and Monday night—or any other 72 hours!

FOR MEN OR WOMEN, ANY AGE.

To relatives, friends, or employers I say—if you want to save a drinker in the quickest time and completely, with or without his knowledge and with absolute safety, read my book—changes despair to joy.

ABSOLUTELY FREE

I will send you my book, in plain wrapper, promptly, postpaid. It tells of my own career and the wonderful discovery, and gives valuable information. No other book like it. I especially appeal to those who have wasted money on treatments or remedies which had no lasting effect. Remember, it costs nothing and you will always be glad that you wrote. COUPLE WHO THRICE ELOPED; FINALLY MARRIED AT HOME

MR. and MRS. ALBERT LEONARD

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Leonard of Brockton.

Brockton Couple Wed After Three Elopements Fail

BROCKTON, Nov. 9.—It's traditional that a bride and groom, when they have jumped into their carriage under the pelting rice and are safely away from the throng at the church, shall look into each other's eyes and sigh, "At last!"

If this is so, surely Albert E. Leonard and his bride, who was Miss Laura E. Bonney, must have put an extra lot of feeling into the words, after they were married by the Rev. A. A. Fairbrother here.

The woes of the lovers were told in the Sunday AMERICAN. Their romance, that began with motor cycle rides last Spring, has raced through three unsuccessful elopements to Maine, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, with the accompaniment of a police chase, refusals of marriage licenses and shortage of funds before they were finally married with the permission of the Probate Court and the blessings of their parents.

Miss Bonney and Leonard on their first try went to Portland, Me. There the youth of the bride stopped them from getting a marriage license, and they got out of the city just ahead of a police summons for their apprehension.

Returning to Brockton they made two more attempts to get married, being refused licenses at Providence, R. I., and Nashua, N. H.

Finally their parents gave consent, and with the permission of the Probate Court the ceremony was performed.

WAKEFIELD HIGH BOYS "CLEAN UP" SCHOOL GROUNDS

Wakefield High School boys, fifty of them, have made a "clean up" of the school yard and the park which it faces, at the suggestion of Principal Howe.

George W. Killorin, Jr., son of one of the town's leading contractors, and E. Hazen Walton, son of Tax Collector Walton, volunteered to captain the crew. With a big waste basket they followed the others, who picked up bits of paper, boxes, banana peels and other refuse.

Principal Howe's call for volunteers was responded to with willingness, and the clean-up-the-school-yard corps will become a permanent institution.

HERE'S MONEY, SOLVE PUZZLES

Are you good at solving puzzle pictures? Sir William Ramsay has said he favors a sign language. Whether or not you agree with him, here's your chance to try your skill at figuring out the ideas which the pictures in the AMERICAN'S new Puzzle Contest convey.

Be sure and read the AMERICAN today and look for the Puzzle Picture. It appears in these editions of the AMERICAN today: Special Extra, Extra City, Second, Home and Fifth Editions.

Weekly prizes to the amount of $100 are given the winners. The first prize is for $50, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth, $5 each, seventh $1, and the eighth to the thirty-first prizes, $1 each.

Everyone may compete. Each person may send in ten sets of answers. A set consists of six pictures, Numbers 1 to 6, with the answers attached. Don't forget that all sets must be enclosed and sent under one cover.

And don't forget to look for Picture 6 in today's AMERICAN.

MT. LEBANON SHAKER WOMEN FIGHT FIRE

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 9.—Investigations today into the fire which destroyed three barns and a community storehouse at the Shaker colony at Mt. Lebanon indicated that it was of an incendiary nature.

At least eight suspicious fires have occurred in the Lebanon Valley during the past year. Three years ago fire destroyed buildings on the same sites as those burned yesterday. The Shakers, who, from women of seventy to children of seven, turned out to help fight the fire, will rebuild.

CASHIER QUITS AT FIRST NATIONAL

Frederick H. Curtiss, who caused a ripple of excitement in financial circles by suddenly resigning as cashier of the First National Bank after nine years of service, said today: "The report that ill-health led to the resignation is unfounded. I am feeling very well. I have no plans for the future."

HUNT FUGITIVE FROM MAINE JAIL

HOULTON, Me., Nov. 9.—The police and jail officers are scouring the woods for Harry Brigham of Wayland, Mass., who, with John Richmond and a prisoner known as "Shorty," escaped from the county jail here. The other two have been captured. They got away when Fred Rose assaulted a turnkey. Rose was captured before he got out of the building.

B. R. STILLMAN DIES IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Ct., Nov. 9.—Benjamin R. Stillman, for eleven years secretary of the National Fire Insurance Company, and formerly secretary of the New England Insurance Exchange, is dead at his home here, aged sixty. He had been ill a year. A widow and daughter survive.

SEE YOURSELF UNDER KNIFE WITHOUT FEELING ANY PAIN

Novocain, New Anaesthetic, Leaves Patient Conscious, But Prevents Any Suffering

You may go under the surgeon's knife today and watch the operation without feeling the slightest pain.

Novocain, the new anaesthetic, is hailed by medical authorities the world over as a godsend to the human race. The patient operated on is perfectly conscious after an injection of the fluid in the region of the spinal cord, can talk and comprehend all that is going on, but endures no physical suffering.

The only after effect is said to be a tickling sensation. Some one has suggested that the patient ought to be tickled to death.

The geometricians can prove by algebra that you can see the back of your head. Just so, theoretically, under the influence of novocain you might have your head cut off without any unpleasant sensation—or your heart removed without pain. This will undoubtedly be a consolation to those who are heartsick.

A man may puff his cigar or pipe now while he is on the operating table and the surgeons are extracting his vermiform appendix.

Remarkable Operation.

Only Thursday Dr. Francis D. Donoghue of the Back Bay used novocain in performing a Caesarean operation, which resulted in the birth of a healthy seven-pound girl, and the mother, Mrs. George Day of Whitman, has an excellent chance for recovery. The patient was questioned from time to time as to whether any pain was felt, and replied that she did not. She asked for water several times and chatted with the physicians and the nurse.

Novocain plays no tricks with the heart. It is rather friendly toward it.

It seems to let the kidneys alone in its action.

Consequently, it is getting popular with many surgeons.

Ether and chloroform are dangerous if the heart is weakened.

What Dr. Donoghue Says.

Novocain is not a substitute for ether, chloroform or other anaesthetics, but in certain cases where these could not be used, and should not be used, it is a substitute. Where there is a weakness of the heart or deficient kidneys novocain may be used in such a way as not to interfere with these parts of the body.

We must study our anaesthetics in relation to the cases to be operated upon.

Old men or women who have heart trouble may be operated upon with the use of this. One could go so far as to say that a man who is wedded to his pipe could take it with him, if necessary, and smoke while the doctors could be operating upon the part affected.

Will Not Replace Others.

It is a mistake, however, to imagine it is to take the place of any other anaesthetics. It is an addition to the family, and in our diagnosis we find it often necessary to rely upon novocain on account of complications in the human system.

Novocain will help to dispel the fear of operations.

It may be so that the patient with novocain injected into his spine may be able to read a book or tell jokes to surgeons while undergoing an otherwise painful operation, but novocain is yet in its infancy.

A Boston Society Woman Takes Her Pen in Hand and Carefully and with Great Thoroughness Tells Us Many Things About Boston's Family Trees and the Back Bay's Whims and Foibles

All of Which Is Most Interesting Reading, We are Sure You'll Agree, and Withal Cause for Much Reflection

A BOSTON society woman has written an article for tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN.

This woman, who has the requisite number of guaranteed progenitors to admit her to the inner circle of Boston's society set, who is recognized as a LEADER among them, whose name figures prominently in the lists of patronesses of Boston's exclusive events and who is properly vouched for by the Blue Book—but who must remain nameless HERE—takes occasion to comment on BOSTON SOCIETY.

She has written some very interesting things about Boston's family trees, mentions the surprising experiences of some social aspirants, and withal lets in the light of publicity upon the whims and foibles of Boston's Smart Set.

Coming from the source it does this entertaining, chatty, gossipy article promises to be the MOST READ article printed in Boston tomorrow, and it appears exclusively in the AMERICAN for which it was written by the lady in the case.

Sir William Ramsay Gives Us Something to Think About

Sir William Ramsay, the greatest living scientist, stopped over in town long enough to deliver a few lectures and to give an interview of deep interest to the Sunday AMERICAN.

The distinguished scientist might have been expected to talk on deep and complex scientific subjects—but being a very up-to-date scientist, he did not.

What he had to say is of particular interest to college professors, scientists and students, to be sure, but it is also of GENERAL interest.

The Genial Mr. Walsh, Our New Lieutenant-Governor, Is a Bachelor

Which fact, it being leap year, MAY interest some of the young women present—indeed it DOES look as if even leap year was going to be safely passed by the distinguished gentleman. Anyway, the article about Mr. Walsh in tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN doesn't particularly concern that bachelor part of it, but tells us some other very interesting facts about him.

Why Women Steal Little Children

Two women have recently stolen two little children on the streets of Boston.

They had never seen those particular little children before, the little ones were not of wealthy parents and therefore were not taken for ransom or reward for their retun.

Nevertheless these two women enticed the little ones away and gave them the care of mothers.

WHY did they do this?

An article in Sunday's AMERICAN by a Boston psychologist advances some most interesting conclusions.

$25 in Prizes to Find the BEST Way to Make Mince Pies

The annual crop of mince pies is ripe, we are informed by Gracie, who is the young lady behind the counter at the Spa, last counter on the left, you know.

Which leads to the question WHAT ARE mince pies and HOW do you make them.

A very estimable New England lady once remarked that you put everything in mince pies except kerosene, and if anyone in the family had a sore throat a little kerosene improved the medicinal qualities of the pie.

Just to find out WHAT ARE MINCE PIES the editor of the Sunday AMERICAN has appropriated $25, which will be awarded to New England women for the best recipes. The awards will be made in two weeks, and the details of the contest will be found on the PURE FOOD page of tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN.

Prize Winning Corn Raisers

Not all the big corn crops are raised in the West, as you will see by turning to the FARM page of tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN and looking at the pictures showing some New England bumper crops, some tall stocks and some of the people who cultivated them.

Timely Words by the SACRED COD and BOSTON BAKED BEAN

This PURE FOOD discussion has occasioned considerable of an uproar lately with one expert telling us that Baked Beans are good and another that they're not, while a third expert says Boston Brown Bread is next friend to poison.

The Sacred Cod and the head of the Bean family got together the other day, we are told, and threshed out this whole matter. The drama is one of the interesting little things provided for your entertainment in tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN.

Ex-Mayor Green's Historical Articles

One of the most interesting features of the Sunday AMERICAN, we are told by some of the readers we meet are the historical articles by Former Mayor Green, illustrated by the distinguished artist, Charles Arthur Lawrence.

This week Dr. Green writes about the Old Granary Burying Ground and mentions the Old Tremont House.

It was at the Tremont House that the late King Edward, then the Prince of Wales, stopped, you know, and he recalls many incidents of days gone by which are deeply interesting.

How to Buy Your Meats Wisely

An expert tells just what you want to know about the best, cheapest and most tender cuts of meat to select when you go to market.

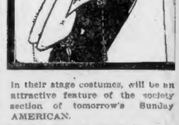
It's surprising how few of us know just what we are getting when we order this or that kind of a steak or roast.

It's largely a matter of luck with most of us whether we have tender steak or tough for breakfast.

The article in tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN'S PURE FOOD PAGE explains a lot about the art in selecting meats which should be of direct benefit to every reader.

College Hero Girls in Stage Costumes

New pictures, especially posed, of Boston society girls who are taking part in "The College Hero" benefit, which show the young women in their stage costumes, will be an attractive feature of the society section of tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN.



More Contestants for that $10,000 Prize

Another page of photographs of contestants in the AMERICAN'S great $40,000 prize contest appears in tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN.

And of course there are the usual number of inimitable CITY LIFE pages, incomparable COLORED COMICS and absorbingly interesting MAGAZINE ARTICLES, which contribute to make the Boston Sunday AMERICAN, New England's GREATEST newspaper.

Women Will Tire of Vote Like Styles —Cardinal Farley

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—Cardinal Farley, informed on his arrival here that woman suffrage had now won in every Pacific Coast State, said:

> I do not believe in woman suffrage. I think my mother and sister have their true interest in their home and that it is best for them and all women to leave to man politics and, as far as possible to, the affairs of government.
>
> St. Paul said women should be subject to man and that is pretty good authority. When differences of opinion arise between husband and wife it is best for the wife to give way to the opinion of the man. It is my belief, but the wish may be father to the thought, that woman will soon tire of the ballot in States in which they have secured it, as they tire of fashion, and it will fall into a state of innocuous desuetude.

"Would you call equal suffrage a fashion?" he was asked.

"A fad, rather," said the cardinal. "I do not believe it will last."

BEVERLY GIRL SUES WHEN CITY HISTORY SAYS SHE KILLED MAN

Because an entry in the Naumkeag directory under "historical events of 1907 in Beverly," states, "Nov. 20, Tony Geary killed by Christine Pipolo," Miss Pipolo, a twenty-four-year-old Italian girl of Beverly, has entered suit against the Henry M. Meek Publishing Company of Salem, alleging libel. Tony Geary is still living, as a matter of fact, Attorney M. L. Sullivan, representing Miss Pipolo, says.

CATARRH TRUTH

You Can Plainly See the Truth This Picture Tells.

This picture shows the mucous membrane tract of the nose, throat and air passages. This is where catarrh germs live and where the disease spreads. The small black spot, No. 1, shows where balms, creams, pastes, ointments and such treatments reach by direct application. You can see that it doesn't reach more than 2 per cent. of the disease.

No. 2 shows where douches, sprays, atomizers and similar treatments reach. So their cures, like 1 and 2, only reach a tiny part of the disease. You cannot cure catarrh by stopping the disease only in a very small part.

No. 3 shows that medicated smoke can, will and does reach ALL the corners, nooks and creases, touching every part. Dr. Blosser's Catarrh Remedy, which I send you free, is made of barks, roots, flowers and leaves; no tobacco or habit-forming drugs. When this mixture is burned in a tube or new, clean pipe, which I send you free, it sends forth a powerful, germ-killing, volatile smoke, relieving the distress and killing the germs. You can instantly feel the beneficial effects. I have shown you in the picture the truth about various treatments. You can see it is reasonable and fair.

Now, I want you to write for a free treatment to let you prove for yourself what a grand remedy I have. The regular treatment costs only $1.00, postpaid. Just say in a letter or on a postal to me: "Please send me Dr. Blosser's Catarrh Remedy Free." When I get your request I will send the treatment by mail free, and also facts about catarrh you will be glad to know. Address Dr. J. W. Blosser, 210 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

GEORGE A. LAWSON, WHO IS AFTER THE BIG $10,000 PRIZE

GEO A LAWSON

Photograph by Otto Sarony.

By THE CONTEST EDITOR.

Yesterday's mail brought an interesting letter from a District 1 candidate in the AMERICAN'S $40,000 contest.

Among other things, he says: "Any time that I see $10,000 lying around loose, I am going to crank my little machine and go after it. There is no reason why my friends and I cannot get as many subscriptions as somebody else and his friends."

That sums up the situation accurately.

No one candidate in this competition is any better than any other or has any more chances of success.

It is simply a matter of individual effort. If you are in earnest and work you will succeed. If not, you may, through your inactivity, get only $500 or $1,000 as your reward instead of $10,000.

Next Saturday, one week from today, will come the very last day of grace. Putting off, holding back, hoping, wishing—these will not avail after next Saturday. The big event, the anxiously awaited first vote list, will be compiled immediately after 10 p. m. on next Saturday night. Every subscription and every coupon vote that is received by the Contest Department before that hour on that day will be recorded and credited for this first vote list, which will be printed at the very earliest possible moment after next Saturday.

Get a Good Position.

A good position in the first vote list means everything. It means enthusiasm and added strength among your friends. It means your campaign strengthened tenfold. And last, but not least, it means the chance of capturing one of the big Special Cash Prizes which are offered as EXTRA Special added inducements for energetic effort NOW.

Any subscription which it is possible to get two weeks or a month from now, it is possible to get now, today. So round up everything in sight for the first vote list. Don't lose sight of the fact that it may mean $10,000—a fortune for you.

One week from tonight Contest Headquarters at 5 Winthrop square will be open until 10 p. m., to receive votes and subscriptions for the first vote list and Special Cash prizes.

Not a subscription, not a coupon received AFTER 10 o'clock next Saturday night will be counted for the first list.

There is nothing to be gained, however, by waiting until the last minute to turn in your subscription and votes. Avoid the rush and send them along as fast as you get them.

Watch Sunday AMERICAN.

Another page of candidate's photographs will appear in tomorrow's Sunday AMERICAN. And be certain to get possession of as many as possible of the big twenty-five vote coupons you will also find in tomorrow's edition.

George A. Lawson, of No. 58 South Russell street, Boston, employed in the Ames Building, is a candidate from District 1 who fully realizes the unusual opportunities offered in this competition. He says:

"With fifteen hundred and one prizes to be awarded there is no reason, in my judgment, why any candidate who is at all active and earnest in the matter of getting subscriptions should not be returned a winner of some of the valuable prizes. I know that some one of the prizes will come to me, and the value of the prize, as I see it, depends entirely upon my own effort. Just at present my entire energy is being devoted to securing a good standing in the first vote list. If I am up among the leaders, I will be pleased. If not, I will NOT be discouraged."

The Book has pleased thousands and is yours for the mere asking. Write today for a free copy. A postal will bring it. Address, Herbert L. Flint, Dept. 39, Cleveland, O.

'CONTES' OPENS OPERA SEASON

Director Russell of the Boston Opera Company has announced the program for the first week of the season, as follows:

Five performances will be given—the evenings of Monday, November 25, Wednesday, Nov. 27, Friday, November 29, and Saturday, November 30, and the afternoon of Saturday, November 30. The works selected for presentation are Offenbach's "Contes d'Hoffman" (in French) on Monday evening and Saturday afternoon; "La Boheme" (in Italian) on Wednesday evening; "Madama Butterfly" (in Italian) on Friday evening, and "Il Trovatore" (in Italian) on Saturday evening.

In "Contes d'Hoffman," Mr. Clement will take the part of Hoffman, Mr. Marcoux will have the four roles of Lindorf, Coppelius, Dapertutto and Dr. Miracle, the successive embodiments of the opposing force Hoffman meets in his adventures; Miss Fisher will be the Olympia; Miss Amsden the Giulietta and Mme. Edvina, as Antonia, will make her first appearance in Boston.

In "La Boheme" on Wednesday evening, Lucrezia Bori, as Mimi, will be heard for the first time, Miss Dereyne will be the Musetta, Mr. Laffitte, Rodolfo; Mr. Pulcini, Schaunard; Mr. Polese, Marcello and Dr. De Segurola, Colline.

"Madama Butterfly" on Friday evening will be cast with Madame Destinn as Cio-Cio-San, Miss Leveroni as Suzuki, Mr. Laffitte as Pinkerton, and Mr. Polese as Sharpless.

For "Il Trovatore" on Saturday evening Gertrude Rennyson has been chosen to be the Leonora, Miss Leveroni the Azucena, Mr. Blanchart the Luna, and Mr. Aresoni the Manrico.

The minor parts in "Contes d'Hoffmann" will be taken by Mmes. Leveroni and Sharlow, Messrs. Blanchard, Cilla, Gracconi, Sillich, Saldaigne and Bourquin. Mr. Caplet will conduct.

The minor parts in "La Boheme" will be taken by Messrs. Cervi, Gracconi and Olshankey. Mr. Moranzoni will conduct.

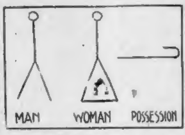
THE SIGNS POINT TO YOU

You can win a dollar by telling how you could talk the sign language in a foreign land and make your wants known.

Sir William Ramsay, one of the world's foremost scientists, is working out a universal language employing signs instead of written words.

For instance, instead of writing the words "man," "woman" and "possession," he would have signs like these:



Sir William's new language will attract universal attention when he has completed his chart of characters.

How would you, readers of the AMERICAN, if you were left in a strange land where your language was unknown and where the language of the inhabitants was not understood by you, express this sentence in Ramsayite Written Signs:

"I am lost and hungry. Where can I find food and shelter?"

For the five best replies the AMERICAN will pay One Dollar Each.

INDICT DONAHUE FOR MOTHER'S DEATH

An indictment charging murder in the second degree has been returned against Cornelius M. Donahue for choking his mother, Ellen Donahue, to death in their South End home. The crime was committed on October 23. He wanted money to buy liquor. The body of the woman was discovered by an insurance collector who had gone to the home to collect on a policy.

UPHOLDS REFUSAL TO HONOR U. S. FLAG

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 9.—J. B. Betts, assistant State commissioner of education, upheld the refusal of Leofric Temple, formerly a pupil at the Cedar Grove public school, to swear allegiance to the Amer. an flag. Young Temple is the son of a former officer in the British army. He said he was acting under his father's instructions in refusing to swear allegiance to the flag.

'LET IT SIZZLE,' SAYS GARDNER

Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, son-in-law of Senator Lodge, said today, discussing the effects of his statement that the Republican party in this State needs to be re-organized:

"I guess I'll let it sizzle awhile. I made my statement purely on my own responsibility and I want to see what the effects are. There is considerable discussion about it, and I understand that much of it is favorable."

The Congressman was in Boston today to keep appointments with several constituents. He went into conference with Secretary Groves of the Republican State Committee and Chairman Hormel of the Republican City Committee. He said that the conference was an informal one and not the result of his statement, but it is understood that he took occasion, at the conference, to reiterate his demand for a reorganization.

McCall Men Declare War.

Another development resulting from the Congressman's statement was a declaration of war by supporters of Congressman McCall today on Gardner. They object to their candidate being placed in the same class with former ex-Governor Draper and Congressman Weeks, and point to McCall's declaration, published exclusively in yesterday's AMERICAN, in favor of a direct primary on the senatorship, to show that the Winchester statesman is not a stand-patter of the Draper or Weeks type.

In his statement, Congressman Gardner said: "It would be a mistake for the Republican party to send John W. Weeks, Eben S. Draper or Samuel W. McCall to the United States Senate."

He advocated the nomination of Ambassador Curtis Guild. Today the Congressman said that he had received no word from Guild indicating that the latter was prepared to campaign actively for the nomination.

Next to Congressman Gardner's statement, the thing most discussed in political circles today was the action of Congressman McCall in coming out for an open primary.

McCall's Statement.

> I am in favor of the passage of a law giving the people the right to express their preference as to candidates in the election of United States Senator. Since the voters have just deliberately decided the political complexion of the next Legislature, which will have the constitutional authority to elect, it could not, of course, be expected that this fact should be disregarded, any more than that there should be another election for Governor. This opinion of mine is not adopted for the present exigency, but is one that I long ago expressed.
>
> The Legislature at its last session adopted the policy of popular choice by ratifying, without a division, the proposed constitutional amendment providing for direct election by the people. Each House also passed a senatorial primary bill, although some influence prevented an agreement between the two Houses. Since this policy has thus been so strongly declared, why should there not be a primary for the coming senatorial election, subject to the party limitation already imposed by the action of the people?
>
> Why should the Senator about to be chosen be wholly exempted from the policy which is to prevail hereafter, for it is a practical certainty that, before Senator Lodge's term shall have expired, the amendment will be a part of the National Constitution and all future Senators from Massachusetts will be chosen by direct vote?

WILSON WINS IDAHO'S VOTE

Election returns today, practically complete, from 25 of Idaho's 27 counties give Wilson 28,683 and Taft 28,089. Democratic leaders declare later returns will not affect the result. Hains, Republican, has undoubtedly been elected Governor.

California, on the face of the best returns to date, goes to Roosevelt by a small plurality. With a few precincts missing, the Colonel has a lead of 609.

However, court action will be instituted as a result of alleged illegal marking of some ballots.

The electoral vote standing appears to be:

Wilson	433
Roosevelt	90
Taft	8
Total	531

In Idaho, the possibility of a divided electoral vote is recognized, since the vote for electors on the same ticket varies. Newspaper tabulations, the only figures now available, are radically different. One gives Taft about 500, the other Wilson about 500.

With seventy-one precincts missing, Ernest Lister, Democrat, has 839 plurality over Governor Hay for the governorship of Washington.

Tabulation of West Virginia's practically complete vote today showed: For president, Wilson, 103,394; Roosevelt 69,523; Taft 51,026. For Governor, Hatfield, (Rep.) 117,123; Thompson, (Democrat) 107,098.

Returns from every county in Oregon insure another Democratic U. S. Senator. The Senatorial vote: Lane (Dem.) 36,247; Selling (Rep.) 34,738; Bourne, (Rep.) the incumbent, 24,376; Clark (Progressive) 9,945. For President, Wilson 42,363; Roosevelt 33,169; Taft 31,842.

The election of George W. Clarke, Republican, for Governor of Iowa, was made certain today by verified returns.

COLONEL TRUMBO DIES OF WOUNDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Colonel Isaac Trumbo, who made a fortune in Utah and lost it in San Francisco, is dead of injuries received last Saturday night, when he was beaten by footpads. For many years Colonel Trumbo was one of the best known connoisseurs of paintings in the West. He had a notable collection and executed many commissions for wealthy patrons.

WILSON KEEPS ON 'LISTENING'

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9.—"The editorials that are being printed on the subject of an extra session of Congress are very interesting and important," said President-elect Wilson after he had read the newspapers today. When asked if he would comment on the necessity of an extra session he said:

"No, I am still maintaining my listening policy. I shall try to read everything and hear everything that is said on any subject that will come before the President after March 4."

The Governor was asked if he proposed to take newspaper clippings and other forms of signs with him on his vacation.

"Not at all," was the reply. "I propose to rest. I shall neither read politics nor discuss politics."

The Governor added that he did not intend to be visited by any political advisers.

"Not even Mr. McCombs nor Mr. McAdoo will come to see me," he said. "I have asked to be left absolutely alone. If anybody comes he will not see me, that's all."

The Governor was really amused at an editorial which said that inasmuch as he had not received a majority of the popular vote in the United States, it was plain the people of the country were not in favor of tariff revision. The Governor said this was an absurd statement in view of the fact that the Democratic majority in the House had been increased and the Senate had been won by the Democrats. He referred also to an editorial statement printed the day after election, saying that the vote in Idaho, which then appeared to have gone Republican, was indicative of the temper of the country on the tariff.

NEW POLICEMAN GETS BURGLARS

"Jim" Regan, a young reserve officer appointed a few months ago to the Cambridge police and naturally anxious to show his mettle, had his chance early today in the shape of a brace of burglars.

Regan was patrolling Western avenue. At 3:30 he walked by Philip Wolff's clothing store at No. 217. A light burned dimly in the rear of the store. Glancing in the window Regan noticed the light, which suddenly vanished.

"That's queer," said Regan. He tried the front door, gently. It was locked.

"All right in front," mused Regan. Then he went around to the rear. A back window was open. Regan promptly climbed in, wondering if he would be lucky enough to find anything.

He did. Two forms were moving about in the darkness. Regan collared one, then the other. There was a little Balkan action around the shop in the dark till Regan subdued his prisoners, lugged them outside and rang for the patrol.

At the station the two were charged with breaking and entering, under the following names: Roy McDonald, twenty, No. 15 Laurel street; Henry Hillis, eighteen, No. 23 Valentine street.

Has Heart Restored

CIVIL WAR VETERAN'S REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE

Has Been Commander of G. A. R.

The old saying that truth is stranger than fiction, is surely proved true by Mr. L. Ferguson, of Brandon, Wis., whose picture is shown herewith. Mr. Ferguson served in the War of the Rebellion from 1861 to 1865. He has been the leading merchant in Brandon for thirty-five years, a prominent and influential business man, and well known throughout his native State, having been Department Commander of the Wisconsin G. A. R. He is respected by all as a man of highest principles, a lover of truth and right, and one who is ever ready to do a kind act or extend a helping hand.

Several years ago Mr. Ferguson suffered from what was apparently a slight attack of heart trouble, but it developed so rapidly that he soon found himself in a serious condition. Of course, he at once sought the best medical advice. In fact, on account of his trouble not yielding to treatment, he consulted from time to time many skilled physicians; one of them being president of a leading medical association of the world. But to his great despair, none of them could give but little hope of his ever being better. However, there is no doubt that, as frequently is the case, his heart trouble was complicated with rheumatism, stomach trouble, and considerable disturbances of the nervous system. He tried one thing after another, but, unfortunately, continued to grow worse and worse. Finally he became confined to the house and was obliged to give up his business entirely, being, as he says, a complete wreck and unfit for anything.

But one day, after a call from his attending physician which left him more discouraged than ever, he chanced to learn of a new treatment for such troubles, and, after a most careful investigation, he decided to give up everything else and try it. He did so. And at the end of only ten days, to his surprise and delight, he found himself really improved—in fact, as it proved, he was already started on the road to recovery. Thus encouraged, he kept on with his new treatment, with the result that to-day he is a well man. Although he just passed his 71st birthday, Mr. Ferguson is enjoying the best of health, and is now able to attend to business every day. He freely acknowledges that his miraculous cure is due to the blessing of God and to this wonderful treatment. Through his personal recommendation, many other citizens, not only of Brandon, but of other places in Wisconsin as well, have also reported to him their complete restoration to health, some of whom even after they had abandoned all hope.

But not satisfied with the good he has already done, Mr. Ferguson desires that all his old comrades and, in fact, all sufferers everywhere, both men and women, may have the benefit of his experience, and he takes this method of expressing his desire to give full information to anyone regarding his treatment and cure. He has nothing to sell, and if you will drop a line to Mr. L. Ferguson, Box 815, Brandon, Wis., inclosing stamp for reply, he will gladly and freely tell you how you may learn all about this treatment.

"Rube" Flees With Actress

◆

Marquard Hunted by Sleuths

BLOSSOM SEELEY AND RUEE MARQUARD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Trailed by "Joe" Kane, Blossom Seeley's irate husband and detectives in his employ, Rube Marquard is in hiding here today. The actress is supposed to be with him. She has been his vaudeville partner since the close of the baseball season.

Things are happening with such kaleidoscopic rapidity where the big pitcher is concerned these days that "Nineteen Straight or Breaking the Record," his vaudeville sketch, has become a mere incident. Marquard's great desire now is to evade Kane and the detectives and to thereby elude the service of an Atlantic City warrant one of the detectives has in an innermost pocket.

In the first place, Kane and the detectives broke a door in the Hotel Dunlop on the board walk at Atlantic City about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Rube and Blossom had fled.

One of the detectives saw the pair leaping from the fire escape and into a motor car. With Kane and the detectives in hot taxicab pursuit, Blossom and Marquard made the station just as a train for Philadelphia was leaving. Had the performance been scheduled they couldn't have done better. The gate closed with a clash, just nipping the toes of the pursuers.

When they arrived in Philadelphia on the next train the fleeing pair had covered their tracks completely.

Kane and the detectives walked Chestnut street and Broad street all day and studied the registers of every hotel from the Bellevue Stratford to Dad's theatrical hotel, but all to no avail.

Kane says he booked Rube and Blossom in a vaudeville act known as "The Nineteenth Straight, or Breaking the World's Record," a skit based on Rube's pitching during the past season. He displayed a contract here by which Marquard and Blossom were, it is said, to receive $1,500 a week. For arranging their booking Kane was to have received $100 a week.

CANON HENSON ENDS SERMONS SUNDAY

Canon H. Hensley Henson of Westminster Abbey will conclude his series of sermons at St. Paul's Cathedral tomorrow, when he will preach at the evening service at 7:30. Besides Canon Henson's sermon, Dean Rousmaniere will preach at 11 and the Rev. A. W. Moulton, rector of Grace Church, Lawrence, at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Smith O. Dexter of Trinity Church, Concord, will be the noon preacher next week.

YOUR LUNGS

ARE THEY WEAK OR PAINFUL?

Do your lungs ever bleed?
Do you have night sweats?
Have you pains in chest and sides?
Do you spit yellow and black matter?
Are you continually hawking and coughing?
Do you have pains under your shoulder blades?

These are Regarded Symptoms of Lung Trouble and

CONSUMPTION

You should take immediate steps to check the progress of these symptoms. The longer you allow them to advance and develop, the more deep seated and serious your condition becomes.

We Stand Ready to Prove to You absolutely, that Lung Germine, the German Treatment, has cured completely and permanently case after case of Consumption (Tuberculosis), Chronic Bronchitis, Catarrh of the Lungs, Catarrh of the Bronchial Tubes and other lung troubles. Many sufferers who had lost all hope and who had been given up by physicians have been permanently cured by Lung Germine. It is not only a cure for Consumption but a preventative. If your lungs are merely weak and the disease has not yet manifested itself, you can prevent its development, you can build up your lungs and system to their normal strength and capacity. Lung Germine has cured advanced Consumption, in many cases over five years ago, and the patients remain strong and in splendid health today.

Let Us Send You the Proof—Proof that will Convince any Judge or Jury on Earth

We will gladly send you the proof of many remarkable cures, also a FREE TRIAL of Lung Germine together with our new 40-page book (in colors) on the treatment and care of consumption and lung trouble.

GUNMEN MAY PLEAD GUILTY

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—With five jurymen already in the box, the work of picking the seven remaining members to try the four alleged gunmen, "Dago Frank," "Whitey Lewis," "Lefty Louis" and "Gyp the Blood," in the Rosenthal murder case, was resumed today before Justice Goff. The panel was expected to be completed today.

There was somewhat of a stir in the courtroom today when it was reported that a woman, who had been arrested in Pittsburgh, said she was in the Metropole Hotel the morning Rosenthal was killed and that she was the first person to reach him after he fell.

She declared she knew all of the men in the gray automobile and that the four men on trial were not in it.

The four gunmen, it was reported today, were planning to plead guilty to murder in the second degree.

FIREMEN SEEK 5,500 IN NEW ASSOCIATION

WORCESTER, Nov. 9.—One hundred firemen, meeting here, organized the Massachusetts Permanent Firemen's Association, pledged to "the betterment of all uniformed firemen." These officers were elected: President, Burton W. Steere, Springfield; vice-presidents, J. T. Conery of Somerville, T. F. Pope of Salem, J. D. Henderson of Cambridge; secretary, T. J. Powers, Worcester; treasurer, T. H. Slattery, Fitchburg. They hope to get 5,500 members.

$200 STOLEN FROM HIS MATTRESS BANK

SOUTHBRIDGE, Nov. 9.—Joseph Polles has lost $200 because he used the mattress of his bed as a savings bank.

In a complaint to the police, Polles said he left his roll under the mattress, went out last night and did not return until late. When he got up the money was gone.

HOW TO SAVE THE EYES FREE

"How to Save the Eyes" is the title of a free book which should be in the hands of every one. It gives a plain and concise description of eye troubles and tells how to remedy the evil of wearing eye-glasses. If you have rheumatism or any other disease you take treatment for it, but when you strain your eyes you go to an oculist and buy a pair of eye-glasses, which act only as a crutch, and the longer you wear eye-glasses the worse your eyes become. They only give temporary relief. Eye-strain is a disease just the same as any other disease, and instead of rushing to buy a pair of eye-glasses, if your eyes were properly treated you would not require them. Eye-glasses are unsightly and you should not wear them without first doing everything in your power to avoid them. Dr. Corish, the eminent physician, has written an instructive and intensely interesting book which you may have free of all charges, prepaid, which tells you how to "throw away your glasses," or, if you don't wear them, it tells you how to keep your eyes in a healthy condition so you will never require them. If you want a free copy of this wonderful book write to-day to Dr. Corish, Okola Laboratory, Dept. 924A, Rochester, N. Y., and you will be pleased with the book, which you will receive by return mail.

New EXCELSIOR Telescope and Solar Eye Piece

Here's a bargain. Never before has it been possible to obtain a telescope with solar eye piece attachment for less than $8 to $10. But because we bought up the stock of one of the largest European manufacturers in lenses we are enabled to sell you this outfit for $1. Think of it—the solar eye piece alone is worth more than that amount in the pleasure it gives—seeing the sun spots as they appear, and inspecting solar eclipses.

SOLAR EYE PIECE

The Excelsior Telescope has a multiplicity of uses—its pleasure is never dimmed—each day discovers some new delight. Distinguish faces blocks away. Read signs invisible to the naked eye. Use it in cases of emergency.

Take the Excelsior Telescope with you on hunting and vacation trips, and you can take in all the scenery at a glance—ships miles out; mountains encircled by vapors; bathers in the surf; tourists climbing up the winding paths.

Used as a microscope, it is found of infinite value in discovering microbes and germs in plants and seeds, etc.

For certain classes of outdoor workers the Excelsior Telescope is a positive necessity. Who knows but that some time it may prove a source of aid that will repay its cost many times over?

The Excelsior Telescope is mechanically correct—bound in brass, brass safety cap to exclude dust. Powerful lenses, scientifically ground and adjusted. Handy to carry—will go in pocket when closed, but when opened is

OVER 3½ FEET LONG

Circumference 5¾ inches. Heretofore telescopes of this size have sold for not less than $6 to $8.

"PRINCESS DAGMAR" WINS LAURELS FROM LAWSON CARNATION

The famous "Mrs. Thomas W. Lawson carnation pink," for which Mr. Lawson paid $30,000 for 8,000 plants fourteen years ago, has lost its laurels to the "Princess Dagmar," exhibited by M. A. Patten of Tewksbury, which visitors to the chrysanthemum show hall as the reigning sensation.

The "Princess Dagmar" is a fine crimson, with flowers larger than those of the Lawson pink. The Patten carnation surpasses anything of the kind ever seen in this country or displayed at the international flower show in London last year. It is in its fifth year, but is not on the market.

POLICE SEEKING SUICIDE'S NAME

MIDDLEBORO, Nov. 9.—An autopsy today on the body of the man found shot throuh the head under a brush pile at Lakeville, satisfied Medical Examiner C. E. Morse that the man was a suicide. But the man's identity has yet to be established. Dr. A. V. Smith assisted Dr. Morse and a reperesentative of the State police was present. On account of the body being found under a brush pile murder was suspected. The theory was that the man could not have shot himself and then crawled under the brush. But a revolver was found in the brush and the medical examiner holds that the man shot himself.

SLAIN WOMAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN A POND

GEORGETOWN, Ct., Nov. 19.—What is believed to be a murder was revealed by the finding of the body of a woman partially wrapped in burlap and tied with rope and wire, floating near the shore in the mill pond of the Gilbert & Bennett Manufacturing Company here.

K. J. Karlson, a mill hand employed by the company, discovered the body about 6:45 as he was on his way to work.

I Save Kidneys

Cure Backache, Bladder Trouble Rheumatism.

My New Three-Fold LEXOID Treatment Is Now Saving Thousands From That Back-Breaking, Digging, Twisting, Terrible Torturing Agony, Eases Stiff Joints, Quiets Those Heart-Wringing Rheumatic Pains, Soothes Those Unbearable Bladder Troubles and Quickly Stops the Pains.

Try My Treatment FREE

Don't spend another needless day of suffering. I will send you my regular, full, complete, three-fold Lexoid, combined course of treatment without a penny's expense, charges paid, to try free, just as my unequalled offer states. I don't mean a small, worthless sample, or a trial test treatment, that you can't tell anything about. I mean a regular, full treatment, and when I say a full treatment, I mean a full treatment, just as I say. I will send it to you complete—charges paid—delivered to your door—ready for you to use—so you can commence it at once.

My treatment has helped thousands to regain their health. Those with tired, lame, aching backs, with unbearable bladder and urinary troubles, others stiff and bent with rheumatism—and it has made them well, the most chronic, severe, long-standing, obstinate cases, after all else had failed to cure them. Hundreds using my treatment in despair, have gone their way rejoicing. They were hopeless and it made them well. They were suffering, and it eased their pains, soothed their aches, brightened their lives and made them happy, and now, I offer you my wonderful treatment to try free—take it—use it—if you want to get well.

If you have backache, kidney, bladder trouble or rheumatism, dizziness, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired and worn-out feeling, if the urine is light and pale, dark colored or cloudy, if you make water often, getting up during the night, if it smarts and burns in passing, if there is sediment or brick dust when it stands, you need my treatment without a minute's delay.

Don't Continue Suffering.

My specialty is such diseases. I treat thousands of cases—helping them after all else has failed. I am successful in my life work, because I love it. I love my profession. My whole mind and soul are wrapped up in it, and I am happy. You would be happy too, if you were bringing happiness to thousands of suffering people right along, as I am now. I love to feel I am helping people to enjoy life, and I want to help you to see the bright side of life, and enjoy every minute of true health and happiness.

I want to help you to get well, and be strong again, so you can work, and walk, and run, and jump without pain; so you can sleep without disturbance, and wake up refreshed and rested, able to use every muscle, nerve, cord and joint of your body, without suffering misery all the time.

I want you to try my regular full complete treatment. My new scientific course of medicines—harmless, soothing, healing, penetrating remedies, that reach the spot, drive away uric acid, cleanse, purify, strengthen, invigorate and encourage the kidneys to properly filter the blood. That stop the pain, give strength to the nerves, life and ambition to the mind and body, and do it quickly, quietly, without loss of time.

My Unequaled Offer.

Now, here is my offer—I will send you a regular, full, complete, three-fold Lexoid course of treatment, without a penny in advance—charges paid—ready to use—to try free, just as I promise. Remember, I don't mean a sample, or a trial, or a test, such as others call proof treatments. I mean a regular, full, complete course of remedies.

Take it when it comes. Use half of it, and see just what it does. Then when you know it has helped you, when you know you are getting better, just send me a small amount, an amount within your easy reach—an amount you can easily afford to spare—that is all I'll ask. I know you'll be willing to do your part when it helps you—and your word is good enough for me. It will help you quickly. But you are to pay nothing unless it does. Try it first, pay afterwards, when you know, not before. When you have used half of it, if you are not satisfied, return what's left, and pay nothing. It doesn't cost you a penny to try my treatment—I will send it to you charges paid, take it, try it, and find out.

A Full Treatment, Free To Try.

I am the only one to-day making this offer, sending a full treatment, on free trial, for such diseases. You know I could not afford to do it if I did not feel sure it would help you—if I did not know it would cure. That's why I can afford to send it first—but you are the one to decide, you are the one to be the judge. It must help you, it must satisfy you—before you send a penny. And you are the one to say. I will take your word. It's all left right with you yourself. What you say goes. Bresnahan May Manage Dodgers

Has Made Great Baseball Record

By SAM CRANE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The refusal of Pittsburgh, Brooklyn and Chicago to waive on Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis Nationals, guarantees that this great player will remain in the National League for some time to come. While it is impossible to get any positive statement from any of the clubs that want Bresnahan, it is generally believed that Charley Ebbets of the Dodgers wants to make him manager of his team, and that Pittsburgh and Chicago want him for backstop work.

Brooklyn would gladly welcome Bresnahan, and Colonel Ebbets could make no greater hit with the fans across the bridge than by installing Roger as manager. The Brooklyn magnate is well aware of his work.

He knows that Bres would be a big asset to his club, and while he is not very talkative on the subject, it is more than probable that Bres will be in charge of the Dodgers in the Spring if such a deal can be negotiated.

Fans Demand Good Team.

With a new "million-dollar" stadium Brooklyn fans want a team that will be able to hold its own with the best in the league. The Dodgers have long had a wonderful collection of talent. There are any number of brilliant players on the team at present, and sufficient of them, too, to mould a championship outfit. However, it will take a shrewd leader to instil the team work that has so long been lacking from the Dodgers' play. Bresnahan appears to be a general who might well fill the bill.

His services would probably be expensive, but the club will be ready to lay out considerable coin on the team once the stadium is completed. Ebbets and his colleagues are eager to build up a championship team. To this end they will spare neither effort nor expense.

McGraw "Made" Bresnahan.

Long years of service under McGraw did much to make Bresnahan the valuable player and leader he is today. But Roger inherited most of the traits that enabled him to build up an enviable career on the diamond.

On the ball field he is a stern, fighting general, one who understands his players thoroughly, and can get the best out of them. He has the ability to size up a player and knows how to handle him. Off the diamond Roger is jolly and carefree, of the "hail fellow well met" sort of whom you cannot help but admire and like.

It was more than twenty-eight years ago that Roger toddled down the gangplank of a tender at Castle Garden, the infant son of an Irish emigrant. He was not quite four years old at that time, having been born at Tralee, County Kerry, Ireland.

One of a large family, poor as the proverbial church mouse, there were no funds, no influential friends to give him a high education. What teaching he received he gained at the public schools at Toledo, Ohio, where his people settled and have lived ever since, and on the sand lots of that city Roger learned the rudiments of the national pastime. What he knew when he entered the professional game at Lima, Ohio, he had learned by himself.

A "Pro" at Sixteen.

He was but sixteen years old at that time, and one of the youngest players in the game. His ambition was to become a great pitcher, and he began his career on the mound. In 1897 he was engaged by the Washington club of the National League, and pitched for them two seasons. Then he drifted to the Minneapolis club, remained there one season, and played in Chicago the following year.

In 1901 came the war between the American and National Leagues. That was the year Bresnahan cast his fortune with John McGraw and joined the famous Orioles of Baltimore. When McGraw deserted the Baltimore club and the American League in 1901 Bresnahan was one of the players who came to the Giants with is manager. And here Roger remained until he became manager of the St. Louis team in 1909.

It was in Baltimore that Bresnahan found his true position—behind the bat. It was the Giants' manager, with his great ability to size up a player, who saw where his real strength lay.

So Roger was told to take the plates off his pitching shoes and don the mask and big mitt. In a few years he developed into one of the greatest catchers in the land. Kling of Chicago and Roger were in a class by themselves. In 1905 he did more than any one man to earn a championship for the Giants.

In St. Louis Bresnahan took hold of a team that in 1908 finished last and pulled it up to seventh place in 1909. He also finished seventh in 1910, and boosted the team to fifth place last season. This year the Cards dropped back to sixth place.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The Cornell faculty has come to the front with an offer and granted a three days' leave of absence for the football men in order that they may give their whole time to football. This is a new departure in college athletics. The students are aware of the fact that the college has the weakest team in its history and every attempt has been made to whip the team into shape for the game today against the Dartmouth squad from Hanover.

The Dartmouth team arrived here yesterday, twenty-four strong, confident of victory. From the practice the squad has been put through in the last few days the Dartmouth team will attempt to score on a kicking game. Morey and Curtis have both been booting the ball in a creditable manner, while Englehorn has also shown up well.

The coaches figure that for the good of the Harvard game it will be wise to have as many players in shape as possible. From the result of the game today an idea of the strength of the Dartmouth combination can be had. If the Green is defeated today, they will be a second choice against the Crimson squad.

The Dartmouth team has come to Ithaca with the firm purpose of winning, and to redeem the defeat administered by Princeton.

JOE STILL ON MARKET.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Joe Tinker, shortstop of the Chicago Nationals, may yet go to Cincinnati as manager. President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals returned to this city and denied that negotiations for the Tinker trade were off. "I saw Mr. Herrmann and we talked over the situation, but the deal is just where it was before I left," said Murphy.

"BIG ED" WALSH PITCHING KING

Others may be better pitchers than Ed Walsh, the great spitter of the White Sox, but for consistent work you have to take you hat off to this star. Year in and year out he is the "iron man" of the A. L. This season the great spitter was one of reasons why the White Sox were not trodden in the mire. During the 1912 campaign he worked in 403 1-3 innings, which is 44.8 full games.

That's more than any other pitcher worked during the season, and it is certain that nobody with the possible exception of Walter Johnson could stand the strain of hurling so many rounds. Walsh, though, has not done this only for the past season, but in former years. In 1908 he earned his reputation as an iron man, when he worked in 55 full games. In 1911 he led the league by working in 368 2-3 innings.

During the season of 1908 he set a record that will be hard to equal, and it is hardly probable that it ever will, when he worked 464 innings, in which he allowed only 112 runs and 343 singles. He issued only 56 passes, while 269 batters were retired on strikes. This was the best season ever enjoyed by the great spitballer.

Walsh Getting Old.

This starry slabman of the Sox is becoming aged. He has seen thirty Summers, and should be pitching ball for another five at least, unless something happens to his good right arm. He has been connected with Charley Comiskey for the past eight years, joining the White Sox in 1904. He did not work much in his first two seasons, but in 1906, the year the Sox won the pennant, he was one of the main reliances of Fielder Jones, then manager of the team.

For a willing worker, one who is always ready to get into the game and relieve a faltering mate, none has it on Walsh. He is ever ready, and no matter how many innings he pitched the day before, he always gives a high-class exhibition of hurling. This is more than can be said of many other star hurlers, who make good one day, but fall down when called upon to relieve a hurler the next day.

During the eight years that the spitter has been connected with Charley Comiskey's white-hosed warriors he has been the victor in 183 contests, while 118 have been lost, giving him an average of .608 for the full time. His best year was in 1908, when the American League staged one of the tightest races ever witnessed, when he led the league with forty wins and fifteen defeats. Only once has he fallen below the .500 mark, that in 1910, when he dropped twenty of his thirty-eight games. His record since joining the White Sox:

Year.	Won.	Lost	P.C.
1904	6	3	.667
1905	8	3	.727
1906	17	13	.567
1907	24	18	.571
1908	40	15	.727
1909	15	11	.577
1910	18	20	.474
1911	27	18	.600
1912	28	17	.622
Totals	183	118	.608

Has Good Control.

Working in 403 1-3 innings during the season of 1912, Walsh pitched in 37 full games, one of them a 10-inning contest, which is 334 innings.

He allowed the opposition 347 hits, which is considerably less than one per inning—to be exact, .86 hits per inning, which is pitching considerably well for one who has seen eight years of service in the American League. He struck out 265 batters, a little over one for every two innings, while only 89 drew passes. This is about .02 walks per inning, which makes it one for every five. The opposition scored .32 runs per round off him.

WOLGAST ASKS A $10,000 BET

By ED W. SMITH.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 9.—Tom Jones, manager of Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion of the world, today offered to bet Harry Coleman, manager for Joe Mandot, a cool $10,000 on the result of a twenty-round battle between the two boys, the bout to definitely decide the present question of supremacy.

Coleman declined to bite at the offer, but told Jones that any time there was a reasonable offer made for the services of his man against the champion, either here or some place else, he wouldn't hesitate for a minute to accept the proposition.

Jones and Coleman met in Dominick Torotrich's office late yesterday afternoon. An argument was imminent because of the great diversity of opinion over the battle of the night before.

"You are claiming Referee Smith declared a verdict in private," Jones announced. "I'll bet you $50 that he never did, because he wasn't empowered to. He might have declared a private opinion, but of that I care nothing. What we would like to do would be to meet you in a twenty-round fight."

"That suits me exactly," declared Coleman. "The best city that gives us a guarantee will suit me."

Wants $10,000 Bet.

"That goes, too," declared Jones. "Here's $10,000 that we will bet you on the result and let Ed Smith referee it." Whereupon Jones handed me the certified check for $10,000 that was Wolgast's share of the $20,000 receipts of Monday night's fight.

Coleman had a huge bundle of money, over $5,000, wrapped up in a newspaper, but he didn't even nibble at the offer.

"Let's cut out that talk about a side bet," Coleman said. "Joe is anxious to fight Wolgast and would like nothing better than to go again right here in New Orleans."

Jones did not demur, but at this point Dominick Tortorich cut in with a statement.

"There is just a chance that I may be able to stage a twenty-round fight between you around here within the next two months," he said. "I don't know so much about it at the present time, but I would like to be considered a bidder for the bout when you are both through with your present engagements. It may be here in New Orleans, but I wouldn't say definitely about that. But I might be able to stage it near New Orleans and if I consent to do so, I'll make you a bid that will be better than anybody's."

Ready for Return Go.

This was good news to the managers of the men and they agreed to consider it at once or as soon as it was made.

In the meantime Wolgast has received a number of offers to box, one of them comes from Ed McMahon, one of the New York promoters. It read this way:

> Will give you $6,000, with privilege of 35 per cent. of the gross, for bout here with Leach Cross, November 22, weight to be 133 pounds. New York papers gave decision to Mandot with one or two exceptions.

"Why don't they get Mandot if he is such a card?" Wolgast remarked when he got this wire.

HARVARD WINS TWO BIG RACES

In record-breaking time, the Harvard cross country runners beat Yale today over the Chestnut Hill course. The Harvard freshmen made it a cleanup by defeating the Yale youngsters.

The varsity score was: Harvard 15, Yale 65. The freshmen score: Harvard 25, Yale 31. The record time of the varsity was 34 minutes 40 seconds, beating everything ever done on that course.

In the varsity race, ten Harvard men were home before a single Yale man crossed the tape. The first five Harvard men finished in this order: F. W. Copeland, first; R. B. Boyd, second; Captain H. P. Lawless, third; B. F. Carter, fourth; F. H. Blackman, fifth. The first Yale man in was A. M. Loveman.

R. S. Young of Yale won the freshman race. N. H. Platt of Yale was second, and K. E. Fuller of Harvard, third. Although Yale took the first two places, Harvard had enough men close up in the following places to win by six points.

The course was about five miles long, starting on the Herbert Jacques estate. The freshmen ran half the distance.

DAVE DESHLER AND M'CARTNEY BOX DRAW

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Young McCartney and Dave Deshler from Boston fought a slashing six-round bout here last night. Deshler had four out of six rounds. McCartney outweighed Deshler by twelve pounds, but the Cambridge boxer kept right after him throughout the entire bout.

DARTMOUTH FRESHIES AND DEAN BATTLE

HANOVER, Nov. 9.—The Dartmouth freshmen will line up against Dean Academy today for the final contest of this year's schedule. Both teams have yet to meet defeat this season. Both have been scored on only once, the freshmen by Cushing, Dean by Boston College.

HARVARD-YALE OFFICIALS.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 9.—Officials for the Yale-Harvard game were definitely announced, as follows: Referee, A. B. Whiting, Cornell; umpire, W. G. Crowell, Swarthmore; linesman, F. W. Burleigh, Exeter.

Few Playing Managers in Majors

◆ ◆ ◆

Stahl May Run Team From Bench

By BILL BAILEY.

The fan who used to stand up and argue until he was blue in the face that the playing manager had it on the fellow who sat on the bench and gave orders must be a sorely disappointed fellow these days.

Because these certainly are the days of the fellow who says, "Go out there and do it," instead of shouting, "Come on, let's get 'em."

The coming season will produce more bench bosses than ever before. It's pretty near a certainty that there will be no more than two playing managers in the American League and the same in the National. There's a possibility that there will not be a playing boss in the junior major league organization. It's pretty much of a certainty that there will be no more than a couple of bosses in the National who are in the game all the time. When the name of the Brooklyn manager is announced there may be a trio.

Stahl and Stovall Alone.

Stahl and Stovall, both first basemen, are the most likely of the managers in B. B. Johnson's organization to be seen in the game. Callahan of the White Sox and Birmingham of the Naps are men who can jump in any time that they are needed. They'll be in uniform and ready for that very purpose. But it isn't likely that either will be in the game every day and that's what a manager should do if he wants to class with the playing bosses. It isn't certain that Birmingham will sit on the bench, but from the news that is going the rounds he surely will if he can find a likely youngster to look after affairs in the centre garden.

He wants to be a bench manager and that is a certainty. The only question is whether he can break in his successor. That isn't always the easiest thing to do, as Fred Clark of the Pirates can testify.

Playing Bosses Scarce.

There is a chance that the junior organization will not have a single boss who may be found in the lineup day after day. Stahl is complaining that the ankle which he injured before the close of the season is not as strong as it should be, and that he would like to give it a long rest. Then Stovall also is eager to sit on the bench. If he can develop a good first baseman he'll probably have his wish.

Should Stahl and Stovall fail to get in the game regularly every one of the eight bosses would be of the bench kind.

The conditions are about the same in the National. Evers and Huggins are playing managers in every sense of the word. It's a certainty that Evers will continue so, because that was one of the stipulations under which he signed. President Murphy likes and wants a playing manager and Evers entertains no false notions upon that score. Just what Miller Huggins will do is a question. The tendency among the players elevated to the position of manager is to grab a seat on the bench and stick. Whether Huggins will be allowed to do so remains to be seen.

Dooin of the Phillies cannot be said to be a playing manager. There were times last year when there wasn't a thing against his getting behind the bat except his inclination. He said he had a great catcher in Killifer and that there was no need why he, Dooin, should don wind pad and big mitt. There is nothing to indicate that Killifer has gone back any, and while Dooin might claim to be a playing manager about the best he could prove was that he was half and half.

These Are Bench Managers.

McGraw, Clarke and Stallings are bench managers in every sense of the word.

They say they have a manager picked for the Dodgers, but there has been nothing to indicate whether he was a bench or a playing kind. Cincinnati is an unknown quantity. Should Tinker land the position, you would have to add one playing boss to the list. If Hank O'Day succeeded himself it would add strength to the bench breed.

There must be something in the air to make a man want to quit playing when he is promoted. No one heard anything about Birmingham wanting to quit the field until he was elevated. In fact, Birmingham would assure you that he had lots of baseball left in him.

Cal Had Great Year.

Callahan came back and played great ball for a year. Soon after his elevation he went to the bench. He says that he has a stronger combination in the field. If Dooin wasn't a manager you can wager that he would be behind the bat a whole lot oftener than he was last Summer.

But it all gets back to the proposition that the fan who thought no one but a player could lead a ball club is likely to have to point to the past to argue his point. Because it's a pretty safe prediction that in a few years there will be no playing managers to point to.

Tufts team battled with the Springfield Training School this afternoon in their annual game on the Oval at Medford.

Coach Whelan has spent much time perfecting the defence and kicking department, and as a result a marked improvement has been shown. Bennett, the big tackle, has proved the find of the season at kicking goals from the field and will undoubtedly be given a chance to show his worth in the game today.

Schlatterbeck, the husky guard, is still out of the game with a fractured rib, and Tobin will play his position.

Judging from the past performances of both teams, Tufts should win the game handily. The Springfield team has made rapid strides during the past week and will play their hardest to repeat the victory of last year. The game will begin promptly at 2:30, instead of 3, as has been the case in all of the other games this year.

Twelve Schools to Take Part in Race

WORCESTER, Nov. 9.—Facing the strongest opponent on the list, the Worcester Academy elevent completed its final workout yesterday before it lines up against the Harvard freshman team on Gaskill Field today.

To keep the spectators' interest aroused during the game, the track authorities will start their first annual interscholastic cross-country run between the first and second periods of the game.

Twelve schools will be represented, which will include sixty-three participants. The run will start on Gaskill Field and out over the Crompton estate to Grafton square, to Union avenue, to Providence street, back to Gaskill Field, where the entrants will twice circle the cinder track before crossing the finishing line.

Andover Has Record

Has Won 18 Battles

EXETER and Andover have played football almost annually since 1877—35 years. Andover has won eighteen games, while Exeter has had eleven victories chalked up to its credit. These two great "prep" school rivals have engaged in three tie games. No games were played in 1889, 1894 and 1895. The Andover team was an easy winner in last year's game by a score of 23 to 5. The Exonians will make a mighty effort today to avenge their defeat of 1911.

WILLIAMS AND WESLEYAN BOTH OUT FOR VICTORY

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 9.—The Williams-Wesleyan contest scheduled for today on Weston field, should prove one of the most interesting contests of the afternoon. No game among the bigger teams is considered of exceptional importance, but this contest will probably decide the title among the smaller Eastern colleges.

Wesleyan has shown remarkable strength from the start, when the Red and Black scored on Yale in the first game of the season. Williams has, however, exhibited remarkable development during the last two weeks, and it is doubtful if much less than a stone wall could stop the Purple attack when it is once well started.

Coach Daly has been preparing, with special care, for the Connecticut team, and he will probably put up a defence which will absolutely prohibit any attempt to play basketball on Weston field, as the sons of John Wesley have done on other gridirons.

Coach Daly has a large assortment of material with which to construct today's lineup, and he is not yet certain how the men will be arranged. At all events he will play the strongest array on the field which has entered a game for Williams this season.

Tech Sophomores Win From the Freshmen

Repeating their performance of last year, the sophomores again won the Tech Field Day between the two lower classes, held yesterday afternoon at Tech Field, Brookline, by winning all three events. The tug-of-war was the first event on the program. The sophs got the jump at the gun and were never headed, taking the pull in 23 4-5 seconds. In the second trial they had a longer pull, but drew the freshmen over the line in 40 seconds.

The football game was hard fought all the way and several men were slightly injured. The freshmen showed up the best in the first half, but in the second half the sophs took a brace and before three minutes of play Scully received the ball on a forward pass from O'Brien and raced 50 yards before downed on the one-yard line. Whiteing put the ball over in straight rushes. O'Brien kicked the goal.

WIN FOR JACK DILLON.

Indians to Meet West Point Team

CARLISLE, Penn., Nov. 9.—The Carlisle Indians left here yesterday for the second time since they have had a football team to play West Point at West Point today at the great college game. When Indian outbreaks in the West were frequent the government officials thought it unwise to have the aborigines and future generals combat in athletics but this state of affairs has passed. Neither Coach Warner nor Captain Thorpe cared to express an idea as to the possible outcome of the game.

SMITH-HOUCK DRAW.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Although Leo Houck of Lancaster had weight on Dave Smith of Australia, at the Olympia A. C., the best Houck could expect at the end of the sixth round was an even break. Smith proved too fast on his pins for the Lancaster lad, who missed several swings through the elusive tactics of the Australian, who also had it on the upstater at long range.

BRIEF SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

By RILEY

IF football "dope" were worth much New Haven ought today to give us a line on Harvard's chance to become this year, for the first time in gridiron history, the world's champion of the game. But football "dope" is a sort of mad-house prognostication. Particularly when it issues forth from New Haven.

* * *

THE students at Cambridge had no task branding a 30 to 10 hallmark on the Brown bear. The youths of Yale tackle the grizzly this afternoon. As usual, they approached the duty with trepidation, and from New Haven came the story that Yale did not expect to approach Harvard's record against Brown. This is customary. Apologists for the Blue always open an avenue of retreat in the event of defeat. But, just as persistently, the Yale crew refuse to do any retreating.

* * *

IN New Haven, they said today that Brown was twice the team that came to the Stadium from Providence two weeks ago. Also they averred that Yale was shy of good kickers, was weak in the line, was short of work and that the Blue hospital resembled the Turk establishment in Constantinople.

* * *

SO in the event of a score of less than 30 to 10, Yale was well fortified with arguments. And Greater Boston, which is hogging championships these days, was deprived of an accurate idea of what may be expected to happen at New Haven two weeks hence.

* * *

ACCORDING to the Yale "dope" poor Bomeisler, last year an All-American end, is so crippled that he will have to play his remaining games in a harness. If Old Dr. Eli is so hard up for an end as all that, Yale must be in a predicament. But don't believe everything you hear from New Haven.

* * *

AT this end of New England there are some misgivings, too. They tell us that Coolidge, the fast Harvard end, has water on the knee and may not be able to play in either the Dartmouth or Yale games. But O'Brien is as powerful an end on defence as Coolidge is on offence and we should worry.

* * *

ALSO, Bradley is represented as being unfit in the ankle. This Bradley is a good player of football. He fits in neatly when Gardner is on the bench. But Gardner is such a marvelous quarterback that there was no chance for Bradley to break into the "big" games unless the first field general were injured.

* * *

YALE is particularly hard pressed for an acceptable quarterback in the first string, so why look for trouble before it arrives.

* * *

IF it were not for this Gardner lad, by the way, the experts would have no quandary over the choice of an All-American quarterback this Fall. Crowther, the diminutive youth at Brown, fills the bill. The Providence coaches have been singularly successful in digging up great quarters. And there have been none greater than Crowther. He bore nearly all of Brown's attack and defence on his own shoulders at the Stadium. He's the most obiquitous boy in the business today.

* * *

DARTMOUTH went over to Ithaca today to take a fall out of Cornell's wavering bunch in preparation for next week's tussle at the Stadium. Once upon a time Cornell threatened the peace and happiness of all the football champions. But that was once upon a time. They seem to have hit a well-iced toboggan at Ithaca some time since, and it looks like they haven't struck bottom yet.

* * *

WELL, Exeter and Andover are still with us, and they put football into the headlines today.

TWO SUBURBAN LEAGUE GAMES

Two games which should give the followers of the Suburban School League a good line on the teams which will meet in the deciding games, will be played today, one at Malden with Everett as the attraction and the other at Medford, where the Somerville High team will be entertained.

These games will not really eliminate the defeated teams, but will come near deciding which ones have a chance for the title. Everett and Somerville are the favorites.

The game between Everett and Malden will be the better of the two. Great rivalry exists between these teams. There is not much to judge between the lineups and the game should be closely fought.

Everett is depending on Captain George Brickley, Sweetland and Cannell. They hope with the aid of these three men to down Malden and place another victory on their long list.

Brickley's wonderful open game has been the feature wherever Everett has played this season. He gets off his forward passes well and with accuracy. This is one point that Malden will have to watch closely. Sweetland is a terrific line plunger and a hard man to tackle, as has been proved in many games. Bold is a wonderful defensive man, a hard tackler and gets through the line quick.

Cannell's generalship has earned him a place among the best quarterbacks on the school gridiron this season. He is wonderfully cool, even in the slightest pinches. He gets off his plays in rapid succession.

Waltham Hopes for Easy Win in Clash with Newton High

Waltham High School will have Newton High as an opponent on the Waltham High School field this afternoon. Waltham looks for an easy victory.

The interest in this game this season is not very great because of the fact that both teams have suffered successive defeats on the past two Saturdays. Nevertheless, the followers of both teams will turn out in large numbers to witness the game.

The Watch City boys took the defeat at Bangor much to heart but that game is now a thing of the past and the point is to get at Newton.

After a rest in the early part of the week the boys were given several hard scrimmages during the past few days and showed improved form. Several new plays were tried out and worked successfully.

Newton will bring a large number of rooters along with it. Coach Dickinson's boys are anxious to defeat Waltham for the reason that Brookline, which is a member of the same league, scored a win over the Watch City lads two weeks ago.

Dickinson considers this game just as important as any league game and for this reason has given much time to drilling his boys in new plays. He liked the style of the team in practice and believes that his boys will give Waltham a stiff battle.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS

By A. H. C. MITCHELL

ACCORDING to Sam Crane, a particularly well-informed baseball writer, the New York American League club, which is owned by Frank Farrell, is almost sure to play its scheduled games next season on the Polo Grounds, the home of the New York Giants, owned by John T. Brush. If this assertion proves to be true, it will be one of the most sensible moves ever made in baseball. The situation in big league cities, where there are American and National League clubs—New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis—is this:

Both clubs maintain separate baseball plants. These separate plants cover a large acreage, and each plant is used seventy-seven days a year for baseball purposes. Each park requires a separate force of groundkeepers, ticket sellers and other employes. When the parks are not utilized for baseball purposes they are idle, except for an occasional amateur game. The parks are located on valuable property and are idle practically 275 days a year.

There is not an amusement enterprise in the world except baseball that could stand this waste. Theatres could not do it. The owner of a theater would be considered a lunatic if he booker plays for half the theatrical season and allowed his playhouse to remain idle the other half.

Would it not be the most sensible thing for the American and National league clubs to combine on grounds in every city and play out their schedules in one park? Take the case of Boston. It costs the National League club here more than $15,000 a year to maintain the South End grounds. Of this $8,000 is interest on the $200,000 mortgage. There are taxes of nearly $4,000, insurance, repairs, salaries to ground keepers, and so on. All this is simply a waste of good money. Why should not the National League club play its games at Fenway Park? There is no conflict in schedules. The owners of the two clubs are not at war with each othere. There is nothing but friendly feeling. There is not even rivalry. The Red Sox are trying to win the pennant in the American League; the Boston Nationals are trying to win the pennant in the National League. They would become rivals only when each won the pennant in their respective leagues, and then they would become rivals only for the world's championship.

Of course, there is one city where a combination would be impossible. It is very doubtful if Comiskey would care to tie up with Murphy in Chicago. Murphy is about as unpopular a man as there is in the Windy City. Comiskey, on the other hand, is considered a prince. But, with the single exception of Chicago, there is no city where a consolidation of playing grounds could not be made to advantage.

Has Made 342 Points

THE Vanderbilt football team has scored more points than any other college in the country this Fall. Its total is 342. Only three points have been scored against the Southern champions. The Carlisle Indians have also run up big scores. Glen Warner's braves have made 340 points but their opponents have an aggregate of 49 points. Princeton is third with a total of 262 and Dartmouth fourth with 257. Harvard is well down the list with a total of 144 points.

Orients After Win Over Cunningham

Two strong amateur teams, the Cunningham Gym and the Orient Heights A. A. of East Boston, meet today at the Gymnasium field, East Milton.

The game is an annual attraction at Milton and should be well attended. Last year Cunningham won the State amateur championship, but did not meet the Noddle Island boys. A game was scheduled, but rain prevented it and a later contest was arranged only to be stopped by bad weather again. Two years ago the Orients won by the score of 11 to 0.

The Orients have made a fine record this season, having beaten six of the fastest teams in the State. Among the sufferers were the Pawtuxet eleven, champions of Rhode Island, Pontiacs, Hiltons and U. S. S. Nebraska, the team which had little trouble in beating the Harvard College seconds.

JACKIE CLARK PICKED TO WIN SIX-DAY BIKE RACE

The great six-day bike race will come to a close at the Arena at 10:30 o'clock tonight. The riders will start on their ten-hour grind at 12:30 o'clock and with nine teams' tied for first place there is sure to be some spirited riding.

Jackie Clarke, the wonderful little Australian rider, is picked to win the one-mile sprint tonight, provided, of course, that some team does not gain a lap on the field today.

Clarke has been riding in great form all week and is in fine condition for the sprint. Bobby Hill will probably do a lot of riding today so that Clarke will be rested up for the final mile.

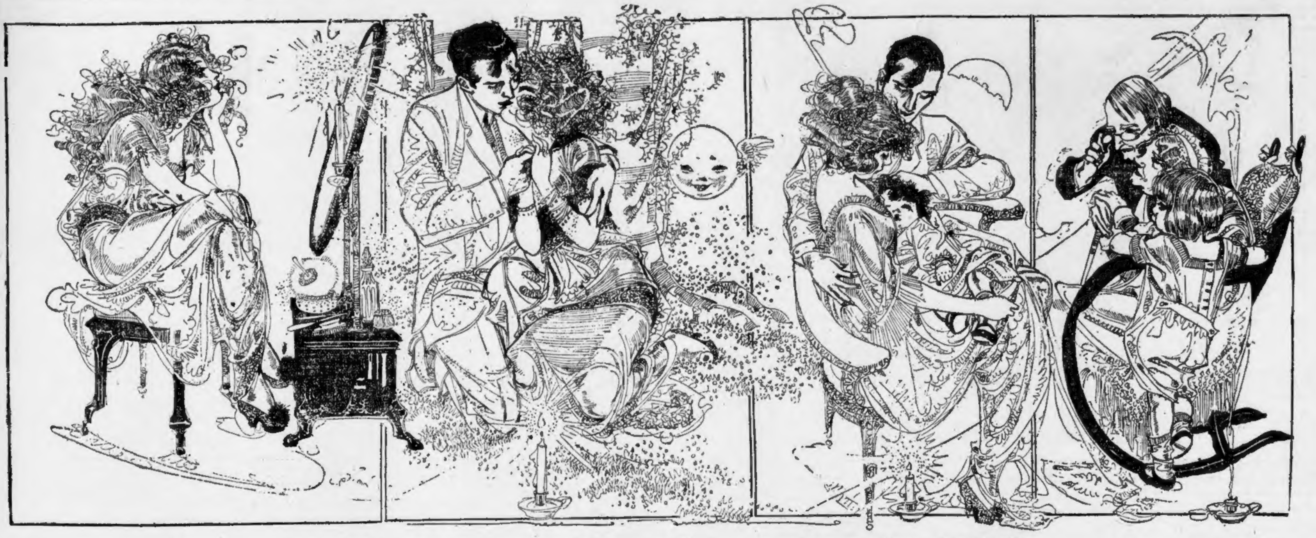
THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S DAILY DOUBLE

"I Want All That's Coming to Me"

Copyright, 1912, by the National News Association

By Nell Brinkley



"I want to know love and loving. I want all there is in every year. Why, I want even to be a grandmother some day," she said.

ONE day I sat in a little mountain hair-shop where a round little woman with a rolling gait that belonged to the wet decks of a ship at sea—'stead of to the dark green velvet carpeting of her "Dry-Bone Gulch" "Emporium"—was shampooing my best chum's gold-brown hair. My best chum is a wise and cheerful little girl. She has a "heart for any fate."

The round little woman talked. She talked of her many beaux—of what she liked and didn't—where she was "borned" and almost how old she was! And we listened with our gray and blue eyes wide and our sense of humor entranced. And the little round woman ended up (with a slant in the glass at her' marvelous, dyed, wooden-curled head) in an explosion of real feeling:

"I'm tryin' to keep just as young as I kin. You'd never guess how old I am, would you? Well, I'm older'n I look, I am! I hate—I detest to get old ever! I hope I may never see the day when I have a little white nubbin on the back of my head and can't get a beau!"

My little chum ruminated. And then she murmured gently (and I knew she saw fancies of the varied years ahead in the mirror). "Why, I want everything that's coming to me! I want to know love and loving. I want all there is to come in every years. I want even to be a grandmother some day when I've done everything else! I want everything that's coming to me!"

NELL BRINKLEY.

My Lady Fair

By FREDERIC MANNING

WHEN my lady climbs the stair,
From the wet, surf-beaten sands,
Loosening her cloak of hair
With her slender, foam-white hands,
All my heart cries out in me
What fair things God maketh be!

Praise her white, and red, and gold;
Praise her lips, made sweet by mirth;
Her grave eyes that dreaming bold
Tears, which tremble ere their birth;
Yet what song shall snare the feet
Of white dawn upon the wheat?

Surely all earth's changing grace,
Starry waters, starry skies,
Fallen in some flower-loved place
Speak such peace as speak her eyes;
There earth's restless wonders are
Glassed, as waters glass a star.

When my lady climbs the stair,
Every wandering, golden tress
Streameth out upon the air,
Like a flame for loveliness:
And my heart cries out in me
What fair things God maketh be!

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women."—Mrs. JENNIE GREEN, Covington, Mo.

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation.

"I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon.

"Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles.

"I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."—Mrs. O. M. CLINE, S. Main St., Brownsville, Ind.

THE SIXTH COMMANDMENT

Today's Complete Short Story

NEAR to the settlement of Molopo, in Western British Bechuanaland, there is a gold mine from which much gold has been taken, and from which there is yet much gold to take. It has a distinctive name in "Dead Man's Mine," and of the finding of it there is a story to tell.

About two years before the war in South Africa Kitty Rivington stood on the departure platform at Waterloo, bidding farewell to her lover, Jack Edgecumbe. Barely a week before she had plighted her troth to him, and now he was bound for South Africa.

Edgecombe was the owner of a mine in the Transvaal. An urgent telegram had called him to the property, a command he could not gainsay, for on his mine depended his wealth.

"'Twill only be for a few weeks, dear," he said, and then he was gone. Kitty Rivington retreated to her home in the country, there to wait for her lover to return.

Within a week of his arrival in Pretoria, Jack Edgecumbe had completed his business, and had also chummed up with another Englishman, Reginald Shelton. The latter had been in South Africa for nearly two years.

They Seek a Mine

Many were the tales that he told to Edgecumbe, but chief among them was one of a wonderful mine out in Bechuanaland, where gold could be picked up by the basketful. Shelton said that he had the story from a dying native whom he had helped, and that he only wanted capital to take possession of it.

So influenced was Edgecumbe by this story that he wrote to Kitty, saying he would be detained in South Africa for a few more weeks.

Then the two men organized an expedition, Edgecumbe found the capital, and it was decided that they were to be part owners of the mine, if they found it.

They estimated the journey to be one of about 800 miles. Their way lay across the Kalahari Desert into a practically unexplored district.

The expedition consisted of the two Englishmen and four natives. There were two wagons, each drawn by four oxen. For food they mostly depended upon what they were able to shoot.

So they plodded on over the forsaken desert, never covering more than twenty-five miles a day. Day after day it was the same arid, treeless country that greeted their aching eyes.

"This is awful!" muttered Edgecumbe thickly, as he strained his feverish eyes toward the group of little hills that they were making for.

"We should be near it now," replied Shelton, and there was silence. Despite their present intimate relations, each man's life was a sealed book to the other, for both were reticent.

On the twenty-seventh day out Shelton pointed ahead with the stem of his pipe.

"Hit it at last!" he muttered.

"Thank God!" said Edgecumbe, and sucked at his pipe again.

The dead native's story was perfectly true. In the shelter of a low hill, where grew ample vegetation, and from where a river ran to somewhere unknown, they staked out the mine. And because of a grinning skeleton that sat on the very centre of the site they gave the mine its grim name.

After spending two days in the vicinity of the mine, the two Englishmen decided to start back in order to take the necessary steps for acquiring and working the mine.

"It seems to me," said Shelton, who had been studying a map, "that there is an easy way to Walfisch Bay over the mountains. Once there, we can go round by coasting steamer to Cape Town. It will be a long way round, but the sea trip will be more comfortable and healthy.

"The idea of returning in the same manner as we came is certainly not inviting," replied Edgecumbe. "But then," he added cautiously, "we know what we've got to face, and we don't know much about the way to Walfisch Bay."

After some discussion they decided to settle the route by the simple method of tossing a coin.

A New Route

"It's head!" said Edgecumbe.

"Then it's Walfisch," replied Shelton, and they made preparations to start. Two natives with four oxen and a wagon were left at the mine.

Whereas they had come nearly 800 miles over flat country, there now lay before them some 300 miles, principally over mountains.

On the third day they shot the four remaining oxen and left the wagon on an unknown mountain side. Then the two natives disappeared with a package containing brandy and spare ammunition, but still they climbed on over the mountains. And now starvation rose in all its horrors before them, until Edgecumbe luckily shot a stray antelope.

They cooked all the meat they could get off the animal, and strung it about them. There were only three cartridges now, but still they climbed on over the mountains.

"We should be within a hundred miles of the coast by now," said Shelton, as they camped on the evening of the tenth day of their journey.

"It might as well be a thousand," replied Edgecumbe grimly.

Each of the two gaunt and weary men knew what lay before them. They had enough meat to last them another two days, and in their weak state all they could travel a day was about ten miles. Then the presence of death opened the floodgates of their confidence.

"Have you friends?" Edgecumbe asked.

"No one who cares a snap of the fingers for me," was the reply.

"I'm engaged to be married."

"Poor devil!" muttered Shelton.

"And to the sweetest girl that ever walked God's earth," continued Edgecumbe, his weary eyes lit with a momentary fire. "It is to her I want you to take a message, if I live to reach the coast."

Shelton nodded again.

"Her name is Rivington—Miss Kitty Rivington—and she lives at Chorford, in Bucks."

"Ah!" said Shelton, with a sudden start. "And you love each other?"

"Why, of course!"

Then there was silence again.

"If only one of us reaches the coast," said Shelton presently, "what about the ownership of the mine "

"It should belong to the one who reaches the coast," replied Edgecumbe, after some thought.

Again there was silence, until the heavy regular breathing of Edgecumbe told that he slept. Then Shelton rose to his feet and walked away into the night. After a while he paused and looked down into a stony valley.

"So she had chosen," he muttered aloud. "And to think that I have lived all this while with the man that she has chosen. The irony of fate!" He laughed a dull, mirthless laugh, and then the fire came into his eyes again.

His Temptation

"Kitty, my darling," he murmured brokenly. "I could have made you love me had you let me try. But my chance has gone, it's too late now!"

He became silent again, and then unconsciously his fingers clasped themselves round the handle of his knife, his sole remaining weapon.

"Why not?" he muttered. "There's sufficient food to take one of us through safely. It would be all over in a moment, and Kitty would love me, perhaps, if there was no one else."

With his mind full of his ghastly project, Shelton crept back to the camp, knife in hand.

Presently he knelt by the side of his sleeping companion. He raised his knife. Just then Edgecumbe stirred uneasily in his sleep, and a slight smile crossed his features. "Kitty!" he murmured.

That was all, but it sufficed. It drove the madness out of Shelton. He picked up something from the ground beside Edgecumbe and stared at it. His eyes lost their unnatural brightness, and sobs shook his wasted frame.

Out into the night he stole again, till he stood once more over the lonely valley.

"Kitty!" he muttered brokenly. "He will be able to come to you after all; there's enough for one. Good-bye, dear!" And then he stepped out into the mid-air, and his lips pressed against the something he had picked up by Edgecumbe's bed. There was a dull thud on the rocks below, and then all was still. But before the sun was over the horizon, Edgecumbe was awakened by the hoarse cries of the horrible carrion birds.

Down in that lonely valley Edgecumbe saw his lost companion. There was no way down into it, and, with a half-delirious prayer on his lips, he stumbled on. He was well-nigh mad now, and an unnatural energy kept him going till he suddenly came in sight of the town of Bacmen, which was not marked on Shelton's map.

Here he lay for weeks between life and death, until life conquered. He picked up considerably on the voyage round to Cape Town, which he made in a cargo steamer.

When he reached Pretoria, almost the first person he saw was his brother Arthur.

"Arthur!" he cried. "Whatever are you doing here?"

"Good heavens!" his brother cried, staring hard as though he could not believe his eyes. "Is it Jack, alive?"

And then Edgecumbe saw his brother was attired in deep mourning.

"You've been missing over four months," said Arthur presently. "Everyone had given you up. Mother insisted on coming over here, and Kitty came with her—I piloted them."

"Kitty here, too?" cried Edgecombe excitedly. "Where?"

But Edgecombe was gone.

"A gentleman to see me?" said Kitty. Her deep black dress, which contrasted so with her pale face, only seemed to add to her beauty.

"Yes, miss," said the hotel attendant. "I've shown him into the morning room."

Kitty Understands

When Kitty entered the room she saw the figure of a tall man with his back turned toward her; they were the room's sole occupants. Then he turned round and immediately all the world semed to whirl about Kitty.

"Jack!" she screamed, and then ran to him.

And he answered by folding her tightly in his arms. After a considerable interval he began to tell her the story of his adventures, whilst a messenger was dispatched to find Mrs. Edgecumbe.

"Then I met Shelton," he said in the course of his narrative.

"Who?" cried Kitty quickly.

"Shelton—Reggie Shelton, an Englishman. He came from Taunton."

"Ah!" ejaculated Kitty.

Then, when Edgecumbe came to the end of his story, and told how Shelton had died, the tears poured down Kitty's face.

"He must have missed his footing," said Edgecumbe. But Kitty thought of what he had just told her—of his message in case of death which told Shelton so much, and of the fact that there was only food for one.

"Funny thing," he continued. "I lost your photograph that very same night. I don't know where it could have got to."

But Kitty knew.

WHEN THE SKIN BREAKS OUT USE POSLAM

If suffering from any skin affection, it is important for you to know that on your druggist's shelf, in the form of a box of Poslam, lies the concentrated healing power, which will ease all physical distress and effect a complete and permanent cure.

With this ready means of relief so easily available there is really no reason why eczema, acne, tetter, barbers' itch, pimples and like affections should be allowed to go unchecked and their discomforts unnecessarily endured. First application stops the itching, the skin rapidly heals and is restored to normal condition.

POSLAM SOAP is antiseptic and germicidal; the safest and most soothing nursery soap. It improves the health, color and quality of the skin; beautifies complexions, renders the hands soft and velvety.

All druggists sell Poslam (price 50 cents) and Poslam Soap (price, 25 cents). For free samples, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

WITH one foot spurning
The potter's turning
A wooden wheel to shape the kneaded clay:

Will grass grow richer
For a little pitcher
All sadly broken on a windy day?

The goldsmith's blowing
His tube, and glowing
The metal's moulded to a tiny star:

Who will look fairer
To be its wearer,
When someone buys it in the old bazaar?

The shuttle's flying
As day is dying;
The old, old pattern is but half begun:

A cloth to pray on
For a child to play on
And crow again at knitters in the sun.

Mike Nearly Won

Pat made a bet with Mike that he could carry a hodful of bricks up three ladders to the top of the building, with Mike sitting on the top.

On the third ladder Pat made a misstep, but caught himself in time to save Mike from falling forty feet to the pavement. Arriving at the top, Pat said: "Begorra, I've won the bet."

"Yes," replied Mike, "but when ye slipped I thought I had ye."

Household Hints

Get a quantity of firm, but ripe, tomatoes, free from blemish. After taking off the stalks place into earthenware jars and cover them with vinegar mixed with an equal quantity of lukewarm water. On top of each jar stretch and securely fasten a strong piece of calico, and finally cover with brown paper. They will keep for months in a cool place.

If you wish to keep really warm where there is a good fire you must seat yourself at some little distance from it, a position where you are out of the direct line from the door or window to the fire. The heat of the blazing coal draws the cold air toward it and up the chimney, and thus makes you shiver. You may easily catch cold in this way.

Directly a chilblain appears apply the following ointment: Take a piece of camphor and a piece of lard about the same size, crush the camphor and put it in a pot with the lard. Melt the two ingredients together and apply when cold. This treatment would not suit broken chilbrains.

It is a good plan to lay a thick sheet of white blotting paper under the covers of dressing tables and sideboards. This will absorb any liquid which may be spilt before it can be reached and harm the wood.

To whiten ivory knife handles, soak in alum water which has been boiled. The water must be allowed to cool and the ivory should be left soaking for an hour, brushed thoroughly with a nail brush and allowed to dry slowly in a damp towel.

BROADWAY JONES

Based on George M. Cohan's great play now running in New York

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

By BERTRAND BABCOCK

THERE was a little silence; then she went on:

"Twenty-four hours from the time you sign that bill of sale to the Consolidated Company this plant will close."

"You mean they'll pay all that money just to get this gum off the market?"

"Oh, no," she elucidated—as though to a child. "Their plant covers acres and acres of land. They manufacture in Ohio."

Broadway could no longer face those pleading, menacing, imploring, begging eyes, whose shadings of emotion from command to entreaty were so clearly shown and with such lightning rapidity.

"Oh, I see," he said, his head sinking as if in keeping with his voice, "are you sure of that?"

"Positive," said the girl; "why, you'd never know a happy day, Mr. Jones. You couldn't have any luck or peace of mind. It would be almost criminal. The thought of the pain and distress you'd bring into the lives of these people would haunt you day and night. Why, even in your dreams you'd"——

To the raising of the siege upon Jackson's emotions came memory of the hotel room in Jonesville he was to occupy.

"For heaven's sake don't say any more, please don't," he pleaded, "I've heard enough now to keep me awake for a week."

For the first time during his talk with her the girl smiled. There had been movements of her features in their interview that might have passed for smiles, but other values had been given to them by that impenetrable mystery of womankind which this girl seemed to have in profusion.

Now the world appeared in a different light. Jackson could think only of the sunrise as he had seen it in Central Park when, after a night of it, he had driven his automobile through it with a maudlin company. Never had the tints of early morning appeared more beautiful than on those occasions, when the calm and dignity of the awakening day aroused in him a dim remorse that his own life was not as they. So it was when Josie—he did not dare call her that even in his thought—smiled. Her smile gave point to all that she had said; it also obliterated all the bitterness that might have existed in some of her words, phrasings and facial expressions.

The smile was still on her lips and the womanly tenderness of thought for the little town in her face as she said to Jackson;

"I would give this matter serious thought if I were you, Mr. Jones. It would be the finest thing in the world for you to stand by and protect the people of this town. You've got a chance to do something big—a thing of far-reaching consequences—a wonderful thing. I hope you'll do it"——

She looked Jackson squarely in the eyes; her smile again shining through her words like sunlight through rain, so that he almost fancied he saw a rainbow.

"And I think that you will," she finished, her words coming to Jackson almost as a whisper, a barely perceptible sigh.

Again Broadway fell into that trance which this girl caused seemingly at her will. She called the Judge and his wife, made her farewells, and then, while Jackson was in the midst of his daze, she made him promise to call at the factory the next morning, when she would go over the books and figures with him. He promised, with every intention of keeping that promise. Then just before she left she walked up to Jackson and, taking a small package from her purse, handed it to him. Upon her face was the most exquisite humor that Jackson had ever seen. He had not known that there were girls like this. They did not pass down Broadway.

"Oh, I forgot," she said, her words edged daintily in the humor of her piquant mood. "I don't think that you've seen this. It is our latest—Jones's Pepsin 'Wafers!'"

Jones took the gum just as at that moment he would have taken a bomb had she offered it to him.

"Good night," she said, and was gone.

The Judge and his wife watched Broadway as he sat moodily in a chair at the table. Suddenly Broadway took up the little package, broke it open, and slipped a wafer into his mouth, an expression of rapture and self disgust upon his face. He chewed it and then spat it out.

The Judge strode toward him.

"Well, how'd she strike you?" he asked.

"An awful blow," said Broadway brusquely.

"What? An awful blow?"

"No," Broadway went on in profuse explanation, "I didn't say an awful blow, I said awful blue, awfully blue."

"You're awfully blue?" asked the Judge.

"Wrong again," was the answer, "I mean her eyes are awfully blue—the bluest eyes I ever saw."

Broadway stared before him, a glum expression on his face. He appeared indeed as if "an awful blow" had been struck upon him, one that might upset his ordinary viewpoint. He was in a mood so deep that he was no longer conscious of the judge. The latter went out softly from the room with his wife, a suspicion of something in his mind. This much he knew at least: His guest would be the better for a few moments alone.

His eyes still on vacancy, Jackson sat at the table for fully five minutes. Then he stared at the gum on the table and picked up the little broken package of wafers.

"Jones' Pepsin," he muttered. "I'll give it to my children, and they'll give it to their children——"

He shook his head, as though trying to settle his ideas. He was still staring ahead of him when another five minutes later Wallace broke into the room. His once boon companion did not note his mood, but went excitedly to the point.

ASK WAR FUND FOR RED CROSS

The American Red Cross has sent out a nation-wide appeal for funds to relieve "the appalling suffering involved in a Winter war in the Balkans."

Appeals for aid have come to the American Red Cross from the British Red Cross and the Red Cross societies of Continental Europe, which are sending doctors, nurses and hospital supplies. The American Red Cross, on account of the distance, will confine itself to sending cash.

President Taft issued a call to the State Boards of the American Red Cross. Acting on this call, the Massachusetts State Board, of which Governor Foss is President ex-officio, met, appointed a co-operating committee and arranged for forwarding to the East of all contributions.

The appeal by President Taft and the statement by the State Board is as follows:

The Appeal.

It is difficult to bring home to the public in this country the appalling suffering involved in a Winter war in the Balkans. Communication is difficult, the cold is intense, and even rudimentary transportation is a matter of extreme difficulty. Moreover, the fighting in this particular war is likely to be of an especially bitter and severe character, while on the other hand the medical organization available is quite inadequate to cope with the large numbers of wounded.

Reports have been received both from our diplomatic representatives in Turkey, the Balkan States and Greece, and from the Red Cross societies, of the desperate conditions of the thousands of sick and wounded, and the inadequate medical service. With these reports have come urgent appeals to the American Red Cross for aid.

The British Red Cross and those of Continental Europe are sending out medical detachments of doctors and nurses and hospital supplies in order to mitigate in some measure the terrible suffering entailed by such a Winter campaign.

Because of the distance, the American Red Cross will not send expeditions of trained personnel, but it earnestly appeals to the generosity of our people to aid the sick and wounded soldiers of all the countries involved.

Though an armistice may be declared, the great number of sick and wounded must be cared for during a number of weeks and the troops must remain under arms in the field for months during the severe Winter weather, with all the suffering and sickness this will entail.

The services of the American Red Cross will be rendered impartially to all the combatants concerned, but it is, of course, open to any subscriber to designate a donation for the special assistance of one or the other of the belligerent parties, and instructions to that effect will be strictly observed.

Committee Appointed.

The Massachusetts Board of the Red Cross, of which Governor Foss is president ex-officio and Gardiner N. Lane of Lee, Higginson & Co. is treasurer, met at the State House to take action upon the appeal of President Taft. A committee, consisting of: Mayor Fitzgerald, Cardinal O'Connell, Bishop Lawrence, Samuel B. Capen, William F. Plunkett, James Logan, Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, Rev. A. Z. Conrad, Bishop Hamilton, Charles A. Stone, Rev. Paul R. Frothingham, Henry S. Howe, Rev. George E. Horr, Samuel Bowles, Edwin D. Mead, Eben D. Jordan, Frank B. Sanborn, A. Shuman, Galen L. Stone W. F. Harris and George W. Anderson was invited to co-operate in the movement. Rufus B. Tobey was chosen corresponding secretary. Invitations to contribute will be sent out immediately, and all checks should be made payable to the order of Gardiner N. Lane, treasurer, and sent to him at No. 44 State street, Boston.

Local Appeal.

It was voted to send out the following as the initial appeal:

The members of the Massachusetts State Board and the undersigned urge upon the citizens of Greater Boston and of the Commonwealth to respond liberally. All subscriptions will be sent to the East in full, a fund having been provided by the Massachusetts State Board for the payment of all expenses. Subscriptions should be sent to Gardiner M. Lane, treasurer, No. 44 State street, Boston.

Subscribers are asked to designate how they wish their subscriptions used, if they have any preference. Subscriptions will be acknowledged in the daily press.

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 9.—Congressman-Elect Thomas C. Thacher called at the gates of some thirty mills and personally thanked the operatives for their support at the election. This act on the part of Mr. Thacher came as a surprise to those people who had said that he would shake hands with the men before election and forget them afterwards.

DRIVER OF AUTO THAT HIT WOMAN IS HELD IN $1000

Dr. Thomas J. Coyne of No. 616 Dudley street was arraigned today on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He drove the machine which knocked down and seriously injured Miss Florence Trainor of No. 9 Olney street, Dorchester. He was held in $1,000 for a hearing December 2.

Miss Trainor is at the City Hospital today in a serious condition. Her name is on the dangerous list.

Dr. Coyne was taken to Station 9 and booked. He was released on bail at an early hour today.

BROOKLINE BOY KILLED BY AUTO

George W. Pollock, twelve years old, one of the ten children of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pollock of No. 96 Brook street, Brookline, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile at the corner of Centre and Beacon streets, Brookline. The lad, who had jumped from a milk wagon directly in front of the machine, later died at the Massachusetts General Hospital. The automobile was owned and operated by F. E. Wing of No. 653 Chestnut street, Waban. Mr. Wing told his story to the Brookline police and was allowed to go.

Stock Prices; Financial News

Balkan Trouble Causes Decline. Sharp Break at Opening. Coppers Weak.

STATE STREET, Nov. 9.—The opening of the local market was very active and at substantial declines from last night's final prices. The heavy selling and decline in prices was attributed to the unfavorable news received regarding the Balkan situation. Trading eased off after the first half hour but became active later and prices were about at the low point for the day at the close. A few of the losses at the close were: Lake 1⅛, Pond Creek ⅝, East Butte ⅛, Granby 1⅝, Calumet & Hecla 5, Butte-Superior 1⅛, and Isle Royale 1.

The stockholders of the State National Bank have voted to approve merger with Merchants National Bank and to place the State National Bank in liquidation from close of business today.

New York Market.

A sharp break in prices marked the opening of the New York market today in consequence of disquieting cables which emphasized the possibility of a diplomatic imbroglio in Europe over the Balkan war. General declines were made throughout the list, the international stocks being the worst sufferers. After the first half-hour a steadier tone developed and prices at the close were slightly above the low.

Mason Valley Mines.

During the month of October the Mason Valley Company treated 27,819 tons of ore from which there was produced 1,646,000 pounds of copper. Shipments during the month amounted to 1,726,000 pounds. Based on the October production the company is turning out at the rate of 19,750,000 pounds of copper per annum.

The Mason Valley smelter began operating in January, 1912, and since that date has produced something over 13,000,000 pounds of copper. While production has varied month by month from a figure of approximately 700,000 pounds in January, it is interesting to note that the October production is the greatest which has been made by the company.

During the past few months the tons of ore treated has increased very materially—for example in July it was running about 750 tons a day while at the close of October this figure had reached 900 tons. The custom feature of the Mason Valley operation is showing up very well indeed. The above figures on production have been made with but one of the two furnaces of the plant in commission.

Foreign Financial News.

The chief influence in the London securities markets was the fear of unfavorable developments as a sequel to the Balkan war. This accentuated presettlement realising. The markets closed lower and with a heavy tone.

Consols flattened, but finished above the lowest, and selling was evident in home rails.

There was a lack of support in American railway shares resulting in irregularity of movement. Canadian Pacific rallied to some extent after an early break. Foreigners exhibited nervousness and mines were weaker incidental to options. There was some pressure of rubbers and oils. De Beers off 5-16 to 19⅝. Rio Tintos lost ⅝ to 72⅝.

Continental bourses closed heavy.

In October the Rand mines produced 768,681 fine ounces of gold, against 708,644 ounces in October, 1911, and 658,147 ounces in October, 1910. The output was valued at £3,265,150, against £3,010,130 in October last year and £2,774,390 in October, 1910.

Four More States Vote for Woman's Suffrage

Good Progress, a Good Sign. Soon All the Women Will Vote—and the Country Will Be Better for It.

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

As important as any feature of this big election—more important by far than any feature in the long run, in fact—is the news that four more States have joined the ranks of those that give the vote to women.

The men of Michigan, Kansas, Arizona and Oregon, realising that justice to women has been long enough delayed, have adopted constitutional amendments permitting the women to vote.

Before long all the women in the United States will have the vote, for the benighted States that hold back will give in as soon as the majority shall have declared itself in favor of justice and decency.

Fortunately, it is no longer necessary to discuss the ability of women to vote intelligently.

In California and elsewhere women have proved their intelligence—not that any proof is necessary—their ability to think closely on political questions and to vote wisely.

Every woman in the United States is entitled to the vote today, and every woman, let us hope, will have the vote by the time the next Presidential election comes around. A country that was ashamed to keep the vote from a million black men should be ashamed by this time to keep that vote from sixteen millions of white women.

The man who says that his mother and his wife are not fit to vote is a pretty poor sample of a man, and his mother and his wife ought to be pitied.

What the four States have just done the rest of the forty-eight will do soon, and this country then will be more of a republic, and better governed, BECAUSE THE MEN IN OFFICE WILL HAVE CONSTANTLY IN MIND THE WISHES AND THE OPINIONS OF THE GOOD WOMEN OF THE NATION.

Back to Asia with the Turk! Christianity and Civilization Decree It

Let the brave Balkan Allies finish their glorious work and drive the unspeakable Turk across the Bosphorus to return no more.

Outside the selfish circle of European Powers, to whom the balance of territory outweighs humanity and civilization, this is the fervent hope and prayer of the whole outraged Christian world.

The Turk came in conquest and blood. He has harassed Europe with 400 years of rapine and lust and butchery. He is going out in one last wild orgie of murder and assassination.

The Turk's probation in Christian Europe is at an end.

Spawn of Attila and of Ghenghis Kahn, he crossed the Bosphorus four hundred years ago without warrant or provocation, like the scourge of God, to seize in lawless plunder the fairest part of Europe. With pillage, plunder and murder as his shibboleths—with no law but the sword and no creed but blood—he stripped the beautiful Empire of Constantine and supplanted the double cross of St. Sophia with the cruel crescent of the Tartar horde.

Civilization has absorbed all other barbarians and softened the savage of every land that has mingled with its touch.

Not so with the Turk. He has never been able to handle any tool but the sword and the dagger and the torch. He never builds. He always tears down. He never makes peace. His only foreign policy was everlasting war. He has grown fat on the sweat and the blood of the Christians he has debauched. His four hundred years to Europe have been four hundred years of hell.

Four centuries of the world's best progress, environed by creed and culture and manly virtues, he remains today what he was in the beginning—a ruthless and incorrigible savage, gifted with a positive genius for the invention and execution of atrocities without a parallel in history. No race or tribe of human beings of whom there is a record has surpassed the devilish ingenuities of cruelty and torture which the Turk has practiced in peace and war.

Not against his enemies alone, with whom he grapples in deadly combat on the field of battle, but against the helpless, the unoffending and the innocent—against the aged and the suckling babe—the woman and the mother does the Turkish monster vent his wrath.

Cumulative in vengeance and in cruelty, each century adds new horror to the record, and but the other day there came a climax when the coward soldiery of the Sultan in full retreat before the brave men of Greece and Servia made a bonfire at Rodosto into whose blazing hell they tossed old men and young women, mothers with child, and innocent babes in arms in vengeance against the strong men they dared no longer face.

It staggers belief that great and powerful nations like England and Russia and Germany and Austria could have tolerated such monstrous savagery in the white light of the civilization they have builded, and for the integrity of which they are responsible.

Almighty God seems to have raised the spirit and inspired the arms of the Balkan States for this great hour of righteous retribution.

Never in human history have there been marshaled armies of such size in proportion to the States from which they came. Never in human history have armies so swiftly raised beaten down so swiftly the defences of an enemy greater in numbers, in resources and in veteran experience than themselves. There seems something more than human in the victory which has crowned every essay of the Balkan arms, and in the confusion and disaster which have fallen like a stern, retributive Nemesis upon the last battles of the Turk.

There is the mighty spirit of avenging justice, centuries delayed, in these plundered States. The spirit of Marco Bozarris in the Greeks, "striking for their altars and their fires, for the green graves of great sires—for God and their native land!" And the crimson years of robbery and plunder and murder are remembered by the dauntless Bulgar, the gallant Serb and the dashing soldier of Montenegro.

God forbid that Christian Europe should halt the Allies at the gates of Constantinople! God forbid that the Allies who are fighting the real Armageddon with the irreconcilable enemy of Christianity and civilization should falter and stay their hands before this holy war is done.

"On to Constantinople!" should be the cry of the inspired Allies now.

On to Constantinople and out with the Turk!

The hour has struck! The Balkan soldiers are the Nemesis of God.

If Austrian, or Englishman, Frenchman, German or Russ should stay the hand of Bulgaria now, the voice of Christendom will cry them shame!

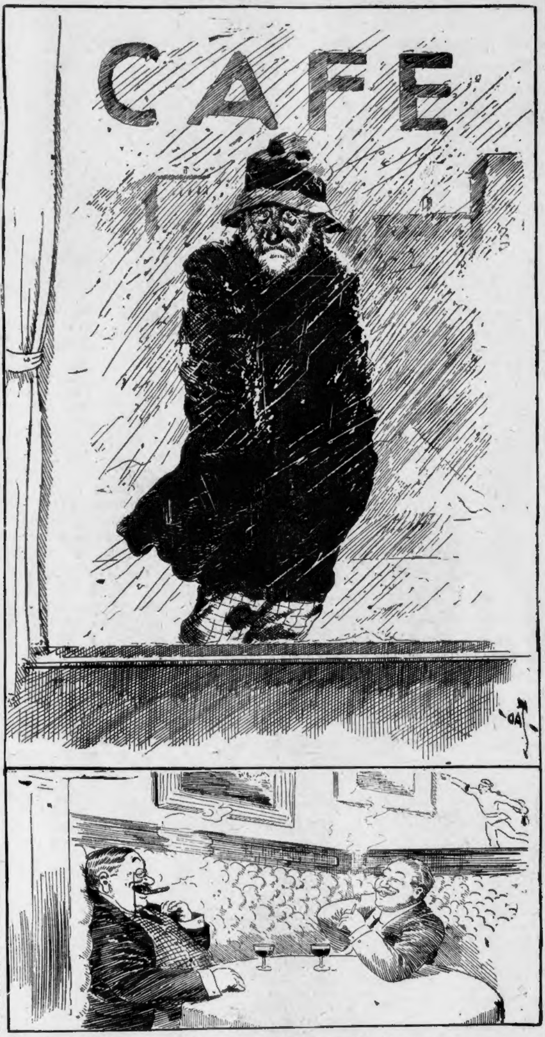
And the outraged Christian centuries thunder "GO!"

The Outside Man



Even though without 'tis stormy weather.
I drink, you drink; we drink together,
The man outside looks through the pane
And wishes he were a man again.
Our time is now—we lead our lives,
And we forget the man who strives
To gain a foothold on the sands,
And shows the world his empty hands.
We see but once Dame Fortune's smile,
And if we tarry but awhile
We are the men outside the pane
Whose chance will never come again.

—Frederic A. Wilson.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

A VOICE FROM KEENE, N. H.

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Being a constant reader of your valuable paper, which is ever ready to espouse the cause of right and justice, I saw in the issue of Saturday, November 2, an article entitled "A Doctor's Holdup." Now, I do not believe that very regrettable conditions exist in our beautiful city of Keene, N. H.; that if the State should investigate such matters as a "Citizen of Keene" refers to it might greatly benefit the present generation as well as those of the future, by insuring the prompt and immediate relief for their sufferings. "A Citizen of Keene" refers to a poor man calling for medical assistance for his family. Well, the poor man's life is most always registered at zero anyway. However, there are Christian-like and kind-hearted doctors in Keene—for instance, Dr. A. A. Taft of Court street.

He is ever ready to respond to the calls of the sick and suffering, regardless of their riches or poverty. One case I know of—a very serious one—he looked after night and day for weeks, doing his utmost in medical skill and closest attention, as well as paying for special diet for his patient out of his own pocket. He has been called at midnight and at 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning, and immediately responded. Now, Dr. Taft could not have seen the slightest encouragement for his pay. He simply claims he tried to do his duty through allegiance to God and humanity.

Making the world better by his having lived in it seems to be his aim—a mighty good program for all vocations to adopt.

Women Have the Right to Earn Money at Home If They Need It

One Hundred Ways to Earn Money at Home

A Fifty-Page Booklet by Mabel Barclay Ury

Will be sent postpaid to any address upon receipt of ten cents in stamps to cover cost of mailing and handling. Address BOSTON AMERICAN PROMOTION DEPARTMENT, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

By MABEL BARCLAY URY

WHAT do you think of this? A man by the name of A. D. Fisher uses a decapitated letter-head of some Boston firm to write the following note from West Somerville:

"If women want to earn money at home let them give attention, care, consideration and loyal affection to their husbands and they will not be obliged to scheme to earn extra money by making candy, baby boots or trimming underwear."

All of which is very nice. But it is mighty hard for a woman to give "attention, care, consideration and loyal affection" to husbands who are unworthy of that kind of service.

The husband who does not earn that service from his wife should not receive it. That which is given without price is generally unappreciated. The wife who gives to her husband treatment that he doesn't earn is violating business law and the home cannot be called a success.

No business contract is a successful contract which compels one party to lose.

Women who are compelled to earn money at home have a right to earn money at home. If a man assumes the responsibility of providing for the needs of his wife and children and fails to make good he has no right to object when his wife and children take part of his responsibility from him.

The weak must ever yield to the strong. That is the law of nature. That is the great Law of the Survival of the Fittest.

Many a woman is far more fit to earn money than the man she calls husband. Many a woman is stronger physically, mentally and spiritually than the man who in a lordly manner calls himself the head of the house.

Hundreds of women who would rather concentrate all their energies upon their housework and the rearing of their children are forced to earn money because their husbands are drunken, dissolute, weak-bodied and weak-minded creatures who are unfit to be either husbands or fathers.

And, try as I will, I cannot make myself think that women are created for the sole purpose of ministering to the selfish wants of a man who demands service because of position given him by marriage and not won by him by strength of character.

There are many reasons why women want to earn money at home. Some of them do it because they possess certain God-given faculties that demand expression, just as the acorn refuses to remain an acorn, but through the power of nature's magic changes into an oak.

Many a man has married an acorn girl only to discover that she has grown into a woman of oak.

And, as you may have discovered, it never does to even attempt to make a growing oak content by confining its roots within the confines of a flowerpot.

Many a home is too small for the women who are expected by men like my correspondent to remain inside. To expect women to refuse to grow is as foolish as to expect a Napoleon to remain content with Corsica.

All I want to say in conclusion is that I glory in the strength of those women who have the desire to grow into greater servants of humanity. If they can serve most efficiently in their homes, in their homes they should remain. If they can serve better in a store, office, shop, school or pulpit, they should use the store, shop or pulpit.

Here's to the women who earn money at home—whether they want to or merely have to.

Makes Molasses Candy.

A friend of mine makes a good sum weekly by making molasses candy kisses. She wraps them in tissue paper. One-half pound and one pound boxes she puts them in charging five and ten cents. She has quite a few boys in the neighborhood to sell them, giving them two cents on each box. I hope this will help some of the women readers of the AMERICAN.

Toy Animals of Cloth.

I know a dear little old lady who makes quite a sum by making toy animals for children. She has reliable patterns and the small flannel dogs and print cats find a ready sale among people with children.

This same woman also makes round mats of oilcloth, crocheted around the edges with silkaton. These are very useful to place under hot dishes on the table, and she sells all she can make for twenty-five cents a pair of small ones, fifty cents for a pair of large ones. MRS. WINIFRED WHITE,

Plans Social Entertainment.

Last year one of my friends wished to give a violet luncheon, but not knowing just how to go about it asked me to help her. It was not long before I had six dainty place cards done of painted violets in water colors, many crepe paper violets necessary for table decorations, also a dainty menu, suggested by the Spring flower, with delicious violet iced cages and violet candies for dessert.

The luncheon was a perfect success and my friends praised my services highly to her guests.

It did not take the busy matron long to realize that a woman with clever fingers and original ideas would be a great help in planning their entertainments. They began to hire my services for every formal occasion.

In my spare time, after I get my housework done, I make place-cards, menu cards, (both in water-colors), crepe-paper flowers and Jack Horner pies. I love this kind of work and it often nets me as much as $8 and $10 a week.

For a woman who can paint a little and make favors and flowers this is pleasant, satisfying work.

Important Directions for Mailing Parcels

The Public Should Co-operate with the Postoffice in All Regulations Concerning Parcels Post. A Message from the Boston Postmaster.

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

The people of this country have at last obtained the much desired parcels post system—or at least an excellent beginning of the complete system.

It is difficult to realize what this will mean to the country in convenience, in time saving, in direct economy and ultimately in greatly reducing the cost of living.

We have received from Mr. Mansfield, postmaster of Boston, the communication which we print here conspicuously. We earnestly request readers to co-operate with the postoffice and to utilize the parcels post system in accordance with the postoffice regulations.

POSTOFFICE NEWS ITEM

DOMESTIC PARCELS POST REQUIREMENTS

Postmaster Mansfield invites the special attention of the public to the following features of the proposed domestic parcels post regulations which go into effect on January 1 next:

That distinctive parcels post stamps must be used on all fourth class matter beginning January 1, 1913, and that such matter bearing ordinary postage stamps will be treated as "held for postage."

That parcels will be mailable only at postoffices, branch postoffices, lettered and local named stations and such numbered stations as may be designated by the postmaster.

That all parcels must bear the return card of the sender; otherwise they will not be accepted for mailing.

It is of the utmost importance that these requirements be observed in mailing parcels post packages in order that such packages may be promptly handled and despatched, as failure to so comply will result in inconvenience and annoyance to the public.
